Study Major-Medical Insurance for All

Concerned With Long Illnesses

Rockefeller Has 6 Making Survey

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Rockefeller administration is making a "task force" study of the possibility of providing major-medical insurance for all workers in the state.

The governor has in mind expansion of the state's disability benefits program to encompass this type of protection.

The program now provides workers with benefits up to $45 a week for 26 weeks when they are unable to work because of illness or accident.

Concerned About Long Illness

Major-medical insurance protects against the great expense of grievous accident or severe illness, such as polio or tuberculosis, which might sideline a breadwinner for years.

Rockefeller appointed a six-member task force Wednesday to study the proposal, which was one of his major campaign promises last fall.

He said any such protection should be written by private insurance companies or non-profit group medical insurance plans. They now write about 96 per cent of the insurance for the disability program. The State Insurance Fund handles the rest.

The present program is compulsory to employers, who bear most of the cost. Employers contribute up to 30 cents a week.

Rockefeller did not indicate whether he thought employees also should be required to contribute part of the cost of major-medical insurance.

About 10 PC Covered

Rockefeller said in a statement that, although many companies already provided workers with major-medical insurance, only about 10 per cent of all workers in the state were covered.

"This type of coverage is needed to supplement basic health insurance," the governor said.

The governor added:

"A serious accident or illness to the breadwinner, with accompanying hospitalization and doctors' bills, can imperil the economic future of an entire family and leave a legacy of suffering long after the medical recovery period has passed."

To head the task force, Rockefeller appointed his former counsel, Roswell B. Perkins. The other members are state commissioners.

12 Advisers Named

Rockefeller also named a 12-member advisory committee to work with the task force.

The five commissioners appointed to work with Perkins are: Martin P. Catherwood, labor; Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, health; Raymond J. Houston, social welfare; Thomas Thacher, insurance, and Keith McHugh, commerce.

Nine of the 12 members of the advisory committee are from New York City. They are:

Perry Family Left Homeless by Fire

A DeWitt Street man saw his house in flame when he arrived home with his seven children from a movie shortly after midnight, and his arrival, firemen said, was just in time to save his wife from the blaze, which badly damaged the two-story, frame structure.

Octave Perry, 33, of DeWitt Street, and his family were left temporarily homeless by the fire.

Condition Good Today

Mrs. Perry was taken by fatum ambulance to the Benedictine Hospital where her condition today was reported as "good."

"This type of coverage is needed to supplement basic health insurance," the governor said.

Will Send Bus Pleas To State Officials

Over 125 parents from rural areas of the Kingston School District, Consolidated, attended a meeting last evening at the Town of Esopus auditorium in Port Ewen to discuss future action in the bus transportation situation.

The meeting was called by the Kingston Rural School Committee, Rogers Murphy chairman, and in attendance at the meeting was Attorney Arthur B. Ewig, who has been retained by the committee to carry the appeal from the local board of education's one and two mile distance regulation, to the State Department of Education. Mr. Ewig reported he had received no word from the State Department in regard to its decision in the matter.

Since there were numerous parents who had not attended prior meetings, Chairman Murphy reviewed the action thus far taken and stated that the committee had taken all legal steps to have the board of education modify its position and supplement its transportation rule. The latest step was the filing of an appeal with the State Education Department asking for a hearing on appeal.

Would Run Congress Full Year Responsibilities Grow: Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposing a leadership drive for an early adjournment, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said today Congress ought to "grow up" and hold yearlong sessions.

Humphrey, as aspirant for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, said he is against a proposal by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for unusual Saturday and Labor Day sessions in a drive to get Congress out of town by Sept. 12.

Should 'Grow Up'

"My view is that Congress ought to grow up to its responsibilities and recognize that the times demand that it stay on the job throughout the year," Humphrey said in an interview.

"We could provide opportunities to stated periods for members to go home without missing roll call votes and we could give them an opportunity to live at least a few weeks of family life."

Humphrey said that if Johnson hopes to get Senate action next week on a stripped down civil rights bill, he is entertaining "A vain hope." Humphrey said he will be ready with controversial amendments any time the issue is brought to the floor.

Must Buckle Down

Johnson told the Senate Wednesday, after a Senate-House conference agreed on a labor reform bill, that if members buckle down to work they can look forward to an early adjournment. He listed civil rights as one of the legislative matters that must be disposed of before Congress quits.

Decision Held Up On School Claim To Dietz Stadium

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirck reserved decision Wednesday on a motion for a declaratory judgment that would favor the education board of the Greater Kingston Area School District (Consolidated) in its claim to rightful ownership of the Dietz Stadium property.

Firemen said the fire could have taken a tragic toll if the entire family had been at home and asleep at the time.

Stay With Miss McHugh

Miss Isabelle H. McHugh, a neighbor at 98 DeWitt Street, housed the family for the night. The children, three girls and four boys, range in age from 6 to 12 years old.

Perry's timely arrival home, it was learned today, was due to the fact that he had decided not to stay for another movie at the Sun Drive-in Theatre.

Units from Central and Cornell stations, and the Wicks salvage truck answered a call at 12:18 a. m. Cords and Rapid Hose companies covered at Cornell Station. Deputy Chief Julius E. Buchholz was in charge. A hydrant stream was used.

3 Policemen Premier Says West Must Join Policy

CHICAGO (AP) — A special grand jury probing the dope racket has indicted three Chicago policemen and a former federal narcotics agent on charges they were involved in a coast-to-coast narcotics distribution ring.

Seventeen others, among them alleged narcotics peddlers, were named Wednesday in indictments which followed monthlong questioning of hundreds of witnesses, many brought here from prison cells.

85,000 Every 10 Days

The ring, the government said, was headquartered in Chicago and grossed $75,000 every 10 days here alone.

The indictments were described as a major development in the Justice Department's drive against organized crime and racketeering.

The policemen, Sheldon E. Teller, Miles J. Cooperman, 29, and Richard E. Austin, 37, recently all members of the police narcotics detail, were accused of giving protection to the ring for money.

This was done, the indictment read, "by advising their codefendants and coconspirators of the plans and activities of government agencies charged with the responsibility of enforcing the laws relating to illicit traffic in narcotics."

Charged With Conspiracy

The former agent, Edward R. Gayles, 38, a Negro, now an attorney, was charged with conspiracy with six codefendants and eight alleged coconspirators for conspiring to import narcotics for sale and distribution in the United States.

Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor immediately suspended the three policemen.

Teller told newsmen he and the other detainees are innocent of any wrongdoing.

The three policemen were named in one indictment with conspiring, along with 10 others, (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

Premier Says West Must Join Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev says the west must fall in with the Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence of communism and capitalism or face "the most destructive war in history."

"There is no third choice," the Soviet Premier said in an article appearing in the current issue of Foreign Affairs, quarterly review of the Council on Foreign Relations, a private organization of prominent Americans.

Khrushchev said that, if relations between the west and the Communist bloc are to improve, "all barriers in international trade must be removed" to let international life develop normally.

System Will Win

The Soviet Premier predicted that the Communist system eventually will win out in what he called peaceful competition. But he said this does not mean Communist interference in the affairs of other nations.

Khrushchev accused the North Atlantic alliance of letting the West Germans convert NATO into an instrument for aggressive plans that could "plunge the whole world into the chasm of a devastating war."

He declined to say how many bids were received. It was reported today, unofficially, that only one bid was submitted. This could not be verified.

The SBA spokesman said there had been very little real interest in the property, although more than 100 inquiries were received.

Seek Better Terms

Most of those indicating interest, however, prefer to seek better terms than the sealed bid sale which provides for a cash down payment of 25 per cent, the balance in a mortgage. They seek to negotiate directly, it was reported.

Hotel Kingston Bids Face Study By SBA Official

Hotel Kingston is "still in the hands of the government" following the opening of sealed bids in New York Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Small Business Administration told The Freeman that the bids have been forwarded to Washington for final consideration but that, in his opinion, none of them will be acceptable.

More than a third of the state's 30,400 idled steelworkers already have filed claims for the benefits since becoming eligible last Monday.

Under state law, striking workers are not eligible for the 26-week plan until seven weeks after the walkout.

The basic steel industry was struck nationally last July 15.

Approximately half of the expected 20,000 claimants in the Buffalo area have made application for insurance payments. Over 3,000 filled out forms Wednesday in the jammed offices of the Labor Department to bring the three-day total to an estimated 10,400.

Officials here said the strike would deplete the fund by about $900,000 a week in the Buffalo area alone.

Eligible workers are those not earning $45 a week or not working a four-day week. The first checks are scheduled for mailing from Albany Sept. 14.

Leo A. Sweeney, district superintendent of employment, said most of the struck workers in the Buffalo area would qualify for the $45 weekly maximum.

Approximately 800 of the 1,800 strikers in the Troy area have filed claims. They are striking the Allegheny Ludlum and Republic Steel plants there.

Of the 2,600 striking workers at the Sanderson-Halcomb works of the Crucible Steel Corp., in Syracuse, 1,000 have sought the benefits, and the Plattsburgh office of the Labor Department said it was processing about 475 requests.

The strikers in the Plattsburgh area are iron miners employed by Republic Steel Co., in Lyon Mountain, Clinton County, and at Port Henry, Essex County.

NATO Has Surprise In Visit Devotion to Unity Format to Success

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower today gave the West a blueprint for peace: Refuse to retreat one inch from principle and stay flexible tactically.

"Then there will be no war. There will be peace," the President told the North Atlantic Council during a surprise visit.

The President sandwiched the quick visit to NATO headquarters into a tight schedule of talks with Western leaders and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Works Vigorously

Arising fresh and apparently relaxed after a late white-tie state dinner with De Gaulle, Eisenhower pitched vigorously into the last day of his European tour.

His appearance at the council was designed to calm the fears of the smaller powers that his coming meetings with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev spelled a lessening of their roles in NATO.

"NATO is a matter of spirit, of determination to work as partners and to preserve the ideals we all cherish," the 68-year-old President said.

Must Be Firm

"If we are firm among ourselves, if we refuse to retreat one inch from principle, if we remain flexible so far as tactics are involved, if we give NATO the same patriotic, deep devotion we give to each of our own nations, then, there will be no war. There will be peace."

De Gaulle and Eisenhower continued their discussions at a lunch Eisenhower gave at the U. S. Embassy residence. From all out奔ing appearances they are getting on famously.

Has Private Talks

Eisenhower's day began when NATO Secretary General Paul-Henry Spaak and NATO Council President Joseph Luns arrived. After private talks with them, Eisenhower drove the few blocks to NATO's headquarters for his brief, friendly

Brooklyn Youths Attacked by Gang

NEW YORK (AP)—A gang of 15 boys attacked four other youths on a Brooklyn street Wednesday. One victim was hospitalized with serious stab wounds.

Dominick Scudieri, 18, a high school graduate about to enter the Air Force, was knifed in the side. One of his three companions was punched by the attackers but the other two escaped unhurt.

The attackers, believed to be Puerto Ricans belonging to the Majestics gang, fled when Scudieri fell wounded.

Police said the hoodlums approached Scudieri and his friends.

Warsaw Warned by Screaming Sirens Nazis Had Launched Attack As Second War Began

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
Written for The Associated Press

At 5:20 on a misty and cloudy morning—Sept. 1, 1939—World War II started in our backyard in Warsaw.

A screaming siren lifted Elmer Peterson—Associated Press bureau chief in Warsaw—and me out of our beds. Then a terrific explosion rocked our office-apartment, the tocsin that Hitler had triggered a war that would change the life of the whole world.

The Nazi bombs were aimed at a bridge over the nearby Vistula, but landed on the race course less than a block away.

We were shocked, somewhat jittery, but not surprised. For two or three days, as Polish and German troops mobilized and moved closer to the frontier, all signs had pointed to war. Blackouts had been ordered in Warsaw the night before.

First News Reports

Peterson and I began hammering out the first of a flow of stories as we got scraps of information from the War Office, the U. S. Embassy, and Polish newspaper friends. Days later we found many of our urgent messages still spiked in the cable and radio offices, and a basketful in a censor's office.

In the first few days Warsaw had scattered air raids, and there was only sporadic anti-aircraft fire. We saw not more than four or five Polish planes take the air against the bombers, and only a half dozen attackers shot down.

Warsaw the Poles were brimming over with optimism. Their troops were "fighting like lions" and would soon invade Germany. They had guns that would make it impossible for any Nazi planes to fly over Warsaw.

Courageous Fighters

The Poles were fighting courageously at the front. A crack cavalry unit actually did invade Germany, but it never came back. No one in Poland seemed to know that the Poles, gallant and brave as they were, did not have the firepower, equipment, tanks, planes to stand up to Hitler's forces. By comparison with the Nazis they were naked.

Soon after that first bomb fell the Polish radio became the air alarm system. "Warsaw Concerto" was played over and over around the clock, interrupted only by major war news or air raid alarms.

The terrible confusion caused by the alarms and attacks and the ever-growing number of persons who were leaving Warsaw for safer country areas made it extremely difficult to move about the barricaded streets, check on bomb damage, or get to see and talk to anyone who knew anything.

Bombers Sweep Close

Then from somewhat haphazard bombing, the Germans began to tighten up their raiding pattern and the Heinkel bombers swooped closer and closer.

After one tour of bombed areas I went back to our second-floor office and began typing a story when I heard planes. More than 50 big German bombers roared over the Vistula River a block away and bombs began to rain down. Windows shattered, the floor shook, my typewriter began to dance.

But I had a grandstand seat for the spectacle over the river, and I was fascinated by the diving, wheeling, screaming planes, the thundering of bombs, the sudden giant spurts of debris from hits and water spouts from misses.

In the midst of the commotion the telephone rang—and I heard the welcome voice of Bob Parker at the Associated Press office in Budapest, Hungary. Since we could rarely get an outgoing call through, we had asked Budapest to telephone us every hour so we could get any news we had to New York.

Nazi Bomber Antics

As the bombers made a turn for another run I gave Parker a quick fill-in. "Here they come again," I yelled. Pulling the phone to the end of the cord so he could hear the whines, screeches, and explosions, I gave him a running story as the Nazi bombers repeated their deadly antics.

When the Poles learned late on Sunday that Great Britain and France had declared war on Germany, they went wild with joy, assuming that it meant a quick, sure victory. By the hundreds they danced and yelled and sang down our street to the French Embassy until long past midnight.

Almost as their cheers died away the Germans launched six spearhead attacks along Poland's borders, pushing toward Warsaw. The Poles did not know, nor dream, that Poland would be pro-

Painting Project Held Up by Old Neighbor Feud

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—One side of John Sciera's home might as well be facing a sheer cliff as far as painting it is concerned.

For there is a deep schism between John and his next door neighbor, Mrs. Alexander Chilinski, a widow.

The feud began in 1940 when Sciera, a retired machinist, bought the house. Mrs. Chilinski charged then that his fence and the eaves of his house were on her property.

In response, he charged that a corner of her garage and part of her driveway were on his land.

Five years later, a State Supreme Court referee ruled in favor of Sciera. Mrs. Chilinski was forced to dig up part of her driveway.

She was permitted to keep the two car garage, but it has been useless without the driveway.

The latest outbreak came recently when Sciera's painter was attempting to paint the fourth side of his house.

In order to reach the upper levels, the painter had to put the ladder on Mrs. Chilinski's land, which extends to within 18 inches of Sciera's house. She promptly called police.

It was a standoff.

Sciera explains the unpainted section of his home to passersby with a red and green sign on his front lawn:

"Woman next door will not let us paint side of house."

Since then, Drury has gone to London, Trinidad, Nassau, back to Singapore, back to London, then to Chicago and finally arrived in Honolulu, where he is now columnist for the Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Recently, his sinus bothering him again, Drury visited a medical center here and asked for a nose and throat specialist. He was referred to Dr. John Watson, the same doctor who treated him in Singapore four years earlier.

Filth Films, Books Cost Man $250 Fine

PEEKSKILL, N. Y. (AP)—Isaac Raymond Leggett Jr., 39, of Croton-on-Hudson was fined $250 today on his plea of guilty to unlawful possession of pornographic material. He also was placed on six months probation.

The penalty was imposed in City Court at 3 a. m. by Judge Seymour R. Levine, who was called out of bed.

Westchester County deputy sheriffs, acting on a tip, arrested Leggett as he sat in his parked car here Wednesday night.

In the car, the deputies said, were 20 reels of film, 20 booklets and a number of photographs—all allegedly pornographic.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 3, 1959

NEW YORK'S BIG GAMBLE

One of the ironies of the Democratic party's situation is that, while it is riding high nationally with large congressional majorities and a 35-to-15 edge in governors, it is divided and confused and sadly weakened in New York, the most populous state.

Those difficulties have just been advertised to the nation by the New York Democratic party's decision to advance New York City's Mayor Robert Wagner as a vice presidential favorite son at the 1960 Los Angeles national convention.

This is their way of "tying up" the massive New York delegation, nearly 100 strong, to prevent its early commitment to any particular presidential prospect.

In 1956, the entry of Governor Averell Harriman as a legitimate bidder for the Democratic nomination had the effect of putting New York "on the shelf." For by convention time Adlai Stevenson had the spot all but wrapped up, and sticking with Harriman meant being left out.

In 1952, the New Yorkers also had gone for Harriman. He was not then governor, but the leaders fastened on him as a kind of stand-in, until they could learn what President Truman's convention-leanings were.

This time New York, like a good many other states, wants to be in the thick of things. The leaders want their big vote to count for something.

The only trouble is that they have taken an immense risk in their quest for "flexibility."

Plumping for Wagner as vice presidential favorite son is a big bet against Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Both are Roman Catholics, and they know there could be no Kennedy-Wagner ticket.

New York leaders acknowledge this is such a bet, saying they think Kennedy has come too fast too soon and is receding.

Yet the size of their gamble is seen when the facts are examined. Kennedy has consistently run strong in opinion polls measuring him against the two potential Republican rivals, Vice President Nixon and Governor Rockefeller. Even Nixon's post-Russia burst left Kennedy with a fair lead.

Kennedy is committed to trying next year to demonstrate in primaries the reality of his popular appeal as suggested by these polls. No one knows what the results will be.

But what if he succeeds? Where will that leave New York in the thick of things? Democratic leaders there have made a mighty big wager against their party's presently leading contender. They may live to regret.

Only three per cent of the nation's auto drivers are experts, according to an automotive safety consultant. The other 97 per cent only think they are.

AN HONOR DECLINED

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York says no to the suggestion that he would accept the Republican vice presidential nomination. Although no one has ever refused the presidential nomination when it was offered, Rockefeller would have precedents if he declined to run as second man on the ticket.

In 1844 the Democrats rejected former President Martin Van Buren, nominating the first "dark horse" of our history, James K. Polk. To placate Van Buren's followers Senator Silas Wright of New York, one of his chief advisers, was named for vice president. He declined, and George M. Dallas of Pennsylvania was chosen.

As recently as 1924 the vice presidential nomination of a major party was rejected. After President Calvin Coolidge had been picked with little opposition, ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois was chosen to run with him. This was a gesture to the farmers, who were thought to be disgruntled with the Coolidge administration. Lowden sent a telegram of refusal; Charles G. Dawes was nominated.

These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE CHIEN LUNG LINE

The Manchus, a Tatar race, came through the Great Wall into China in 1644 and conquered the country. They continued their conquests until they reached their apogee during the reign of the Emperor Chien Lung. At that time, the indefinite Chinese boundaries "included" such areas as Manchuria, Mongolia, Turkestan, Tibet and some parts of what are now Burma and India.

I put the word, included, in quotation marks because the Manchus never ruled any part of China. They reigned but did not rule. They conquered some areas by military force, but they employed Chinese to govern and they employed mostly Chinese troops to fight for them. They accepted tribute and sold tax rights, but the government of peoples was always in the hands of those directly concerned with localities. So when it is claimed that such areas as Bhutan, Sikkim and Nepal and parts of Kashmir were once Chinese territory and are included in China on a map prepared by the Communists, it is meaningless phraseology. At one time or another many Asiatic countries sent tribute to the Chinese throne, but such tribute was not evidence of ownership of the territory by China.

In fact, it has always been difficult to define the term, China. The Chinese themselves referred to their country as "The Middle Kingdom," that is the center of the universe, and all lands on the periphery of "The Middle Kingdom" were either tributaries or barbarians. When the Ta Ching Dynasty collapsed and China became a republic, the five-barred Chinese flag was adopted and the variegated racial character of the country was recognized, each bar representing a distinct race.

The Kuomintang, when it took over the government of China under Chiang Kai-shek, gave up the five-barred flag, denying, in effect, the racial differences and distinctions among the Chinese people. The number of distinct races in China is greater than the flag represented, including many aboriginal pre-Chinese peoples.

The Kuomintang adopted the principle of nationalism, a principle which had never existed in China before and was not understood by the Chinese people. They had believed in the principle of local self-government, "dian chui," which had stood them in good stead for centuries. The significance of this in the present quarrel with India is that the term, China, is geographical and has never been political in the sense of a national state because no government before ruled over the entire extent of the territory that at any time appeared on the map as China. Arnold Toynbee, in his study, makes a distinction between Sinic and Chinese in order to explain the very complex distinction which I am attempting to explain here.

In effect, China has historically been a civilization rather than a country, a way of life rather than a government. Whether the Chinese Communists can alter varying traditions; create a single tongue out of more than a hundred languages and dialects; break down countless variations of traditional habits—all this is yet to be seen. Present indications are that they are not succeeding as rapidly as they had expected.

Such countries as Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim, lie in the Himalayas on the borders of two civilizations, the Chinese and the Hindu. In such countries, the variations of religions and traditional and linguistic experience become mixed. The influences of Hinduism (Brahmanism), Buddhism and Confucianism are strongly intermingled and produce blooms that are different and variegated. The peoples are blended, as all border peoples are mixed everywhere in the world. In Asia, where plural marriage has been usual, centuries of intermixing of races and peoples have produced new races and new peoples in each generation with a new, sturdy peasantry that represents a basic stock.

Red China, by moving into Bhutan and Sikkim, serves notice on India and the world that its immediate territorial designs reach to the Chien Lung line which will also include some territory in Kashmir. This can produce a war with India that could, and probably will if it happens, involve Great Britain as a member of the Commonwealth, and the United States as a SEATO power. Nehru is, however, not one to make war readily. Whether it is cowardice or an Asiatic brand of pacifism, he prefers to talk rather than to fight. The Communists are not breathing down his neck and he cannot talk much.

Is this a pleasant introduction to Khrushchev's visit to this country?

Common Disease of Measles
Shouldn't Be Taken Lightly

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

The most interesting thing about measles which I have recently seen is a report indicating that the virus which causes that disease is similar in many respects to the virus causing distemper in dogs and cats. It appears that there is a chemical similarity between these viruses and some other common properties. But there has never been a proved case of measles acquired from an animal with distemper, nor apparently of distemper being acquired from a person with measles.

Interesting as this is, what I really want to talk about is the fact that while extremely common, measles in youngsters should not be taken too lightly. Measles can cause serious complications of the nervous system, of the breathing apparatus, or of the eyes or ears. However, measles almost invariably produce a life long resistance and therefore it is probably just as well that most of us have them while we are young.

The first symptoms of measles develop about two weeks after exposure to a patient who has been ill. Because during the first three or four days of the disease the symptoms resemble those of an ordinary cold with slight fever, many youngsters expose others without realizing it.

Telling measles from something else is not always easy at first. During the time when there is a lot of measles in a community, youngsters who develop symptoms of a slight cold with fever should be kept at home and away from their playmates as a precaution for themselves and others.

The fever is slight at the beginning but goes up gradually. A dry cough is likely to be present and this tends to become gradually worse. The rash which follows in a few days usually comes first on the forehead and behind the ears. From here it spreads rapidly over the neck, trunk and down the limbs and is usually fully developed in two or three days. Fading of the rash starts in another two or three days.

Bed rest until the acute stage of the disease is over should be enforced as many of the serious complications come from letting the patient out of bed too early. Plenty of fluids and easily digested foods should be given.

The eyes are sensitive to light so that reading and eye strain should be avoided. Often it is well to have the shades in the sick room partially drawn. Tepid baths are helpful in preventing itching and in soothing the skin; constipation is common and should be appropriately treated.

Those who are exposed to measles can be prevented from developing a severe attack by an injection of gamma globulin. Antibiotics may be helpful in preventing or treating some of the common complications.

In addition, plenty of distinguished men, notably Daniel Webster, have scornfully rejected the vice presidential nomination in advance. So if the convention should name Rockefeller for the second place, it would be nothing new if he declined.

Washington News

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The

word is now being passed out not to expect big results from Nikita Khrushchev's visit here.

It

is nevertheless believed that he will be respectful of President Eisenhower, whom he admires as a great general and as head of a great nation and government.

The issues that Chairman Khrushchev will take up with President Eisenhower are only being guessed at. They include such well-known and timeworn subjects as suspension of nuclear tests, limitation of armaments, lessening of tensions, increase of trade. The last is something of a phony as Russia has nothing to sell the U. S. wants.

CHIEF VALUE of the trade talk, as seen here, is that it gives the United States a bargaining point—something to offer in exchange for what it wants.

President Eisenhower is rated by his team as a man of great good will but a tough bargainer and a match for Khrushchev. He is not going to sell any allies down the river or sign any new Yalta's, as some alarmists have feared.

President Eisenhower will not sit down with Chairman Khrushchev at the White House, Camp David, the Kremlin or Siberia to present a detailed American plan for settling all outstanding differences, either.

The President views the talks as completely exploratory. But in "finding . . . some little avenue yet unexplored through which we can move to a better situation," as the President puts it, the opening up of the Soviet Union and satellite countries is a major objective. On this, Chairman Khrushchev may be running the greater risk.

He has little use for small talk and diplomatic niceties. In private conversations, when he is not sounding off for propaganda purposes, he gets right down to business. He talks earnestly, quietly and to the point. He is a shrewd bargainer, demanding his quid for very quo.

It is no one expects it to start any revolution. But if these contacts continue, and as more Russian people learn more about the outside world as they have in the American Exposition at Moscow this summer, the pressure on Khrushchev and the Kremlin to trust to loosen up and lift the lid on their blacked out and secret country may increase.

This is now analyzed in advance as the most that can come out of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange visits.

Water Projects Bill Is Revised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee proposes a new water projects bill revised to meet President Eisenhower's objections.

Eisenhower vetoed the original bill.

Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said Wednesday that 67 projects Eisenhower objected to in the $1,215,000,000 bill should be left out of a revised version.

Included in the 67 projects are those in New York State:

Buttermilk Channel $1,500,000; Hudson River, New York-Albany channel $500,000; New York-New Jersey Pierhead Line $300,000; Ohio River Bridge, Buffalo River $2,000,000.

The House failed Wednesday by a single vote to override Eisenhower's veto.

Here's how New York congressmen voted:

Democrats for overriding: Buckley, Burke, Celler, Delany, Dooling, Dulski, Farbstein, Healey, Holtzman, Kelly, Keogh, Multer, Rooney, Santangelo, Stratton, Telner, Zelenko.

Republicans against: Barry, Becker, Bosch, Deroianian, Dooly, Dorn, Fino, Goodell, Halpern, Kilbourn, Lindsay, Miller, Ostertag, Pillion, Pirnie, Ray, Riehman, Robison, Taber, Taylor, Wainwright, Weis, Wharton.

Paired for: O'Brien (D), Anfuso (D), Powell (D).

Absent or not voting: St. George (R).

Army Enlists 8 Area Young Men

The following area young men recently enlisted in the Army for a period of three years:

Albert Arbogast Jr., of Malden-on-Hudson; Raymond Maxim of Fleischmanns and William Sill of 296 Broadway, Kingston. All enlisted unassigned.

They will receive assignments upon completion of basic training. Gerald Garfman of Accord and Arthur O'Leary of Rosendale chose the cryptograph repair school. George Judson of Rosendale chose Army airborne. James Mather a faculty member at Wiltwyck School enlisted for the administrative field, and Robert Hood of Woodstock re-enlisted for the administrative field also. The above men enlisted through the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 309 Wall Street, Kingston.

It was announced by the local Army recruiters that numerous enlistment choices are available through the local office. Young men who are not sure of what their aptitude is can be sent to Albany through the local office for testing. Area youths are reminded that they can pick their own enlistment date and may enlist from within three days up to 60 days after interview with the local Army Recruiters. M. Sgt. Wasielewski and M. Sgt. Gosling.

Ranch Club to Meet

The Lowlands Ranch Club will hold a meeting Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at 190 Tremper Avenue.

Historical Group Invited as Guests Of Gotham Society

The New York Historical Society has invited members of various area historical societies to its New York City headquarters Thursday, Sept. 10 on the occasion of Hudson Valley Day.

According to Jansen H. Preston, president of Ulster County Historical Society local members have been invited to visit the New York headquarters at 170 Central Park West between 77th and 78th Streets, near the American Museum of Natural History.

On September 10, 1609, Henry Hudson completed his survey of New York Bay and entered "the middle of the river." Accordingly, it is most appropriate that September 10 be designated as Hudson Valley Day." Preston said.

A comprehensive exhibit of Hudson and Champlain mementos will be on display, including Samuel de Champlain's personal astrolabe with which he recorded his positions during his voyages.

The schedule of the visit includes a tour of special exhibits at 11 a. m.; lunch from 12:30 to 2 p. m. at the museum; reception and meeting at 2 p. m.

The welcoming address will be delivered by Dr. R. W. G. Vail, director of the New York Historical Society. There will be a response by Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Dutchess County Historical Society, music, folksongs of the Hudson Valley and films on the battles of the historic Hudson.

Crime Increases9.3 PC in 1958*Over Year 1957

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime in the United States increased 9.3 per cent in 1958 over 1957.

The year's crime clock indicated: A murder every 64.2 minutes. A forcible rape every 36.1 minutes. A robbery every 7 minutes. A car stolen every 1.9 minutes. A burglary every 46.4 seconds.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover jointly reported today there were an estimated 1,553,922 crimes classified as very serious offenses last year compared with 1,442,285 in 1957.

There were increases in all of the individual classifications as follows: murder, 8,182 in 1958 and 8,027 in 1957, an increase of 1.9 per cent; forcible rape, 14,561 and 12,886, 13 per cent; robbery, 75,247 and 66,843, 12.7 per cent; aggravated assault, 113,530 and 110,672, 2.6 per cent; burglary, 679,787 and 603,707, 12.6 per cent; larceny over $50, 391,550 and 354,972, 10.3 per cent; auto theft, 270,965 and 265,178, 2.2 per cent.

A crime covered in the index was committed every 20.3 seconds last year.

Youths under 18 represented only 12.1 per cent of all persons arrested. They accounted, however, for 64.1 per cent of all arrests for auto theft, 49.9 per cent of those for burglary, 48.5 per cent of those for larceny, 30.9 per cent of those for receiving or possessing stolen property and 22.8 per cent of those for robbery.

Crime increased more than five times as fast as the population. There were 896.9 serious crimes committed for every 100,000 population, or one such crime for every 111 citizens.

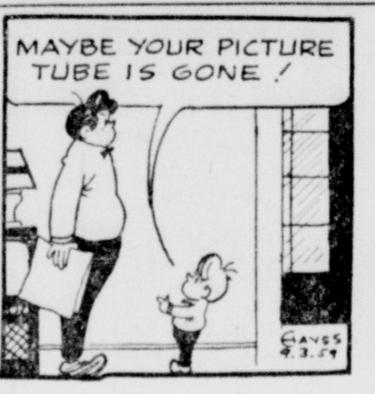

For every 100 persons formally charged and held for prosecution, 67 were convicted.

The New Hurley Guild will meet at the New Hurley Church Hall Saturday afternoon, Sept. 12, at 2:30 p. m. Hostesses will be Gertrude Baumann and Mrs. Haysom.

Ruth MillettIf You Want Nice Things To Happen, Plan for Them

Nice things happen to us unexpectedly once in a while. But the happiest people are those who plan for nice things to happen, make them happen, and know all the fun of an anticipation.

In her book, "Stop Feeling Tired and Start Living," Dora Albert advises people who are always feeling tired, even though they are in good health, to plan at least one activity they can look forward to each week.

That is, of course, sound advice. For it starts Monday off not as the beginning of another dull, routine string of days—but as a week when something nice is going to happen.

Such plans don't have to be elaborate. They can be as simple as having an old friend over to spend the day, getting a congenial crowd together for a Dutch treat party, or getting a babysitter in to give a busy mother complete freedom for an afternoon to take in a movie, shop leisurely, visit friends, or get a perky new hairdo that will lift her morale every time she looks in the mirror.

In addition to these short-term dividends a person plans for herself, there should always be some long-range plan to work for, too.

It might be a trip, or detailed planning of the kind of house she hopes to have someday, or embarking on a course of study in anything that especially interests her.

The important thing is, that to enjoy living, a person has to make good things happen. There is fun in such planning. Fun in anticipation. And enjoyment in making a dream come true.

Anybody who just sits around hoping something nice will happen is bound to get tired waiting until it does.

Local Citizens Urged to Attend Luncheon Sept. 12

Local citizens were today invited, in fact urged, to purchase tickets for Kingston's "Empire State Day" luncheon on September 12.

In extending this invitation, Albert Kurtz, chairman of the Kingston Committee for the Hudson-Champlain Celebration, sponsor of the luncheon, stated that it is hoped to have a large turnout to commemorate the establishment of New York State Government here 182 years ago.

"The principal speaker to help us celebrate," Kurtz pointed out, "will be our Lieut. Governor Malcolm Wilson and we will also honor our own Dr. George F. Chandler, first superintendent and founder of the New York State Police."

Several other distinguished persons will be in attendance. Mayor Edwin F. Radel will welcome the guests, including Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, Senator E. Ogden Bush, Senator Ernest L. Hatfield, and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson.

The guests have been invited to witness the pageant at 11 a.m. on September 12 in front of the County Court House. The pageant is being staged by the Ulster County Bar Association and the Coach House Players.

The big parade will take place after the luncheon starting at 2:30 p.m. near the lower end of Broadway. Parade chairman

John Ray Mayone will have the complete parade orders ready early next week.

Kripplebush

KRIPPLEBUSH — The annual Labor Day picnic will be held at the Kripplebush Hall. A ham supper will be served family style from 4:30 p.m. until all are served. Clayton's Military Band of Ellenville will furnish the music.

Church services Sunday will be at 8:45 a.m. Sunday school will resume at 9:45 a.m. after a recess during the month of August.

Mrs. Opal Will returned home Saturday after spending two weeks with her daughter and family on Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Miller and family spent Saturday at Cooperstown.

Along Capitol Corridors

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York State's stoic old Capitol will shake off the summer doldrums next week and enter a new cycle of activity.

Traditionally the arrival of Labor Day signals a shifting in the gears of government machinery. Top state officials, from Gov. Rockefeller on down, are putting aside the luxury of sunshine leisure and preparing for the brisk pace of the fall.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt is due back Monday from a vacation tour of Israel. Rockefeller, who has been weekending at Seal Harbor, Maine, faces a September schedule that crowds more than 30 public appearances around numerous meetings and conferences.

The post-Labor Day period is the time for decisions—important decisions that will make the big news of early 1960.

For Rockefeller, the next several weeks could be crucial. During this time, his legislative program and his next budget must take shape.

His whole political future, including his chances of becoming president, may hinge on the decisions he makes.

And Rockefeller faces some tough ones. Examples:

1. Spending—His first budget set a record at slightly over two billion dollars. He has promised economies. But where to cut? And how deep?

2. Taxes — The pressure for some kind of tax-reduction next year—a big election year—will be tremendous. Can he resist this pressure? Should he?

3. Fallout shelters—His proposal for requiring people to build radiation shelters in their homes has attracted nationwide attention. Should he insist on a mandatory program, instead of a voluntary one?

These are just a few of the many problems that must be settled. The governor has study committees working in at least 30 other areas, including such subjects as highway safety, housing, health insurance and crime.

Many of these inquiries have been progressing quietly during the summer. Soon study reports will fall on the Capitol like autumn leaves.

And summer will seem like ages ago.

Mt. Marion

MT. MARION—The Rev. and Mrs. Henry Reinewald are spending a few days at Middletown this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jennings are announcing the birth of a daughter, Sandra, on Aug. 15.

Lorraine Becker is visiting friends in Levittown, Pa.

Troop 66, Mt. Marion Girl Scouts had an exhibit of crafts at the Ulster County Fair.

Dale Van Benschoten, Terry Van Benschoten and Bruce Miles spent last week at the Denton Lake Church Camp, Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Caulderwood and family moved back to their rebuilt home Thursday.

The house was nearly destroyed by fire last spring.

Mrs. Lawrence Gillison of New York City is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. George Gillison.

The Rev. and Mrs. Oscar Jelsma and daughters Joyce and Beth of Penn Yan visited Mr. and Mrs. Warren Myer Sunday.

Richard Becker of the U. S. Navy is spending two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Becker.

The local elementary school will open Wednesday, Sept. 9.

The Country Club Drive card club had dinner at the Skyline Restaurant, Catskill, Tuesday night.

Mrs. Griffin Halloran, Girl Scout leader, has taken a course in folk dancing from Frank Harris, Woodstock.

Michael O'Hara of Hurley is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Myer.

Passenger Deficit IncreasesRailroads to Revamp Method For Freight Transportation To Meet Mobile Challenges

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Freight service, long a sweaty broadwinner for the once glamorous passenger-trains, is taking over the starring role in New York state railroading.

While railroads struggle to discontinue or curtail passenger service, they are overhauling and grooming freight operations to meet competition from highway, waterway and air.

Most folk in most New York communities appear little concerned as their passenger trains disappear. But an extensive Associated Press survey shows general satisfaction with freight services that remain.

Railroads Lose Money

The public traditionally has thought of successful railroading in terms of the storied, big-name passenger trains—the 20th Century Limited, The Commodore Vanderbilt, the Empire State Express.

But, except for the war years, railroads long have lost money in hauling passengers. Deficits were met with freight profits.

The state's 12 passenger railroads report annual deficits that total nearly 230 million dollars.

Impartial observers feel that many of the figures are exaggerated. The deficits sometimes include operating expenses that would continue even if passenger service were abandoned, as may eventually happen.

The New York State Public Service Commission said in a recent report, however, that railroad-passenger deficits would continue "and by a considerable amount" if only direct expenses were figured.

Profit in Freight

In the first seven months of 1958, a recession period, the New York Central Railroad took in 271 million dollars from freight and nearly 45 million from passenger service.

The recession ended, the economy soared and freight revenues rose to $14 million for the first seven months of 1959. But passenger revenue continued to fall—41 million.

Against this background, railroads plead constantly for permission to lop off more and more passenger trains. At the same time, they are revamping freight methods to meet challenges posed by the greater mobility of trucks and the greater capacity of ships using the St. Lawrence Seaway.

To meet the trucks' big advantage, railroads inaugurated their own form of door-to-door service. Loaded trailer-trucks are carried over the rails on flat cars and, at destinations, roll over highways to make deliveries.

History-Making Plan

The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad recently inaugurated a rate plan under which it gave a shipper of crushed stone a substantial discount in exchange for all his business. The Public Service Commission said that the move was a history-making concept in railroading.

A rare complaint against railroad service to a large city came from Niagara Falls. Industrialists there complained of a bottleneck in switching yards and said the railroads considered the area a branch line.

The New York Central has inaugurated a centralized freight system in which one agent, deploying trucks and making field trips himself, serves an area that once had several, individual freight stations and agents.

The agent notifies consignees by telephone that shipments are on their way and makes personal visits to customers to check their problems.

Most businessmen appear unconcerned over loss of passenger service to their communities. They depend on automobiles for short trips, airlines for longer ones.

In Central New York, where wide areas are without passenger connections, it was reported: "There is no record of any industry having left a community because rail passenger service was curtailed or eliminated. Nor is there any indication that any industry looking for a new site has been influenced by rail passenger service or lack of it."

Third Quarter Forms For State Tax Mailed

ALBANY—Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy of the Department of Taxation and Finance today announced that statements for third quarter declarations of estimated income tax have been mailed to 375,000 New York State taxpayers. He reminded them that September 15 is the deadline for making third quarter payments.

Taxpayers who have received third quarter statements are those who had paid only half of their declarations of estimated tax on June 15. So far, payment of taxes on income not subject to withholding has totaled $114.9 million.

The fourth quarterly payment is due January 15, or if a taxpayer elects to make a single year-end payment when he files his 1959 income tax return, it is due January 31, 1960.

Premier Says

closer together but there are still substantial differences on a number of questions.

"I am deeply convinced that they are not fundamental differences on which agreement is impossible," he wrote. "And if we still have differences and have not reached agreement on certain important questions, it is—as we believe, with adequate grounds—a result of the concessions made by the western powers to Chancellor Adenauer, who is pursuing a military policy, the policy of the German revisionists (seekers of revenge)."

Khrushchev was paid $150 for his article—entitled "Peaceful Co-existence."

He agreed to write the article before getting an invitation to visit the United States. But he referred to his coming exchange of visits with President Eisenhower and said he believes they will "afford the possibility for a useful exchange of opinions, for finding a common tongue and a common understanding of the questions that should be settled."

Eisenhower reciprocated the French affection, pouring out from an estimated million Frenchmen who lined the streets and cheered wildly as the two presidents drove triumphantly about the city.

De Gaulle sounded the keynote of the heartfelt reception for Eisenhower when he told the crowd at the hotel de ville: "Although the years pass, nothing can efface the memory of the victory won under his command by the Allied armies and, naturally in France, with soldiers of France.

"Proof that one does not forget? Paris has just given it."

Neither Segni nor Pella would comment as they emerged from the meeting.

Feed Greater Importance

It is known that the Italians are concerned over their own role in the Western alliance and show no inclination to allow De Gaulle an overshadowing position.

Since Italy has welcomed NATO atomic missile bases on her soil, the Italians feel that their contribution to Western defense is greater than that of France. De Gaulle has thus far refused such bases and this is one of the points of friction.

Old Problems

These problems have disturbed the atmosphere within NATO for many months, and this was one of the reasons for Eisenhower's decision to pay a surprise visit to NATO's permanent representatives this morning.

Eisenhower and De Gaulle end their talks tonight during an overnight stay at the Cateau de Rambouillet, summer residence of French presidents 35 miles from Paris. Eisenhower planned to go directly from Rambouillet to Le Bourget Airport early Friday for his departure.

Promising Beginning

Informed sources said the Eisenhower-De Gaulle talks Wednesday were in the preliminary stage but got off to a promising beginning.

They reported that the French leader was gradually unfolding his ideas for a settlement of the nationalist rebellion in Algeria and France's demands for a place in NATO councils equal to that of the United States and Britain.

"Everything has gone very well between us," De Gaulle told the throng that packed the square before the hotel de ville (city hall) for the city's official welcome to its visitor.

Eisenhower in turn said the talks began in a "good and encouraging manner."

De Gaulle was believed to have outlined a plan for ending the Algerian war, a plan he hopes will result in U.S. support for France in the U.N. Assembly debate this fall on Algeria.

No Word of Reaction

There was no word of Eisenhower's reaction to De Gaulle's views on Algeria.

Eisenhower's visit was bathed in excited affection, pouring out from an estimated million Frenchmen who lined the streets and cheered wildly as the two presidents drove triumphantly about the city.

De Gaulle sounded the keynote of the heartfelt reception for Eisenhower when he told the crowd at the hotel de ville: "Although the years pass, nothing can efface the memory of the victory won under his command by the Allied armies and, naturally in France, with soldiers of France.

"Proof that one does not forget? Paris has just given it."

Paris Dear to Him

Eisenhower reciprocated the French affection. Choking with emotion, he told the vast throng: "I can only say that over the years, this city, this country has become (to me), like it is for almost every American, something very dear."

And then, in his halting French: "Je vous aime, tous"—"I love you all."

Eisenhower delighted an audience of dignitaries at a state dinner in his honor with a unique toast to his host. Referring to a characteristic of De Gaulle that has caused headaches for the Allies in war and in peace, Eisenhower said: "I would call him stubborn, yes. But as long as he is stubborn in support of principles and right and peace, this can be a powerful inspiration for all of us."

"Unless we have the stubbornness, courage and resolute persistence of President de Gaulle, we shall not win."

Clifford Johnson, charged with carnal abuse, waived reading of the indictment and entered a plea of innocent. Joseph Hill appeared for Johnson and was granted 20 days for motions and bail was continued and counsel granted 20 days to make motions.

In the case of Morris Peterman, charged with driving while intoxicated as a second offender, the case was passed when it was ascertained he was in custody in another court jurisdiction.

Clifford Johnson, charged with carnal abuse, waived reading of the indictment and entered a plea of innocent. Joseph Hill appeared for Johnson and was granted 20 days for motions and bail was continued and counsel granted 20 days to make motions.

Vincent Christofore, Saugerties, charged with burglary, third degree, and receiving stolen property, alleged to have been committed on June 28, 1959, was released on his own recognition and 20 days granted for counsel to make motions pertaining to the indictment.

Donald Charles Tice, charged with criminally carrying a concealed pistol and also petit larceny, alleged to have been committed on June 28, 1959, entered a plea of innocent. Charles Saccoman was released on his own recognition and 20 days granted for counsel to make motions pertaining to the indictment.

Larry Lee Hoyt, charged with unlawful entry on May 17, 1959, in the Town of Rochester, entered a plea of innocent. He was represented by William Curran, who was granted 20 days for motions and the defendant was released on his own recognition.

John Fisher, charged with burglary, third degree, unlawful entry and petit larceny, alleged to have been committed on May 17, 1959, will be treated under the Youthful Offender Law as recommended by the grand jury. He said he would get an attorney and was released in custody of his mother. Counsel will be granted 20 days for motions and bail was continued.

Charles L. Trainum, charged with grand larceny, first degree, will have counsel assigned on September 8 at 2 p. m.

Ronald E. Kidd, charged with burglary, third degree; unlawful entry and petit larceny, said he would get an attorney and was granted 20 days to make motions.

An alarm from Box 3421, the Benedictine Hospital, at 9:22 a. m., today drew out virtually all fire units. Sounding of the alarm, firemen said, was attributed to electric power trouble of short duration in the building.

Khrushchev to Get Escort on N. Y. Visit

NEW YORK—Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy of the Department of Taxation and Finance today announced that statements for third quarter declarations of estimated income tax have been mailed to 375,000 New York State taxpayers. He reminded them that September 15 is the deadline for making third quarter payments.

Khrushchev will be escorted from Pennsylvania Station, where he arrives by train from Washington, to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

12 Defendants Named in Report Of Grand Jurors

Twelve indictments including 11 sealed, were handed up Wednesday to County Judge Louis G. Bruhn by the April County Court grand jury, and two not found bills were also returned exonerating defendants previously charged with crimes.

One indictment included in the partial report charged Charles (Brayton) Black, now in Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Beacon, with first degree murder for the shotgun slaying of Miss Mildred Steger on June 28. A first degree murder warrant will be issued and filed at the Beacon institution for execution when, and if, Black is declared sane and capable of understanding the nature of the crime charged against him.

Not found bills exonerated

William Kelmore Galm and John Robert Hangen, who had been held for grand jury action on charges of unlawful entry and malicious mischief. Bail of each defendant was exonerated.

Assistant District Attorney Harry Gold appeared for the People at arraignment of defendants.

Those indicted were:

Rolf Max Widmaier, 16, Saugerties, charged with burglary, third degree; unlawful entry and petit larceny alleged to have been committed in the Town of Saugerties on June 28, 1959. Ernest Schirmer appeared for defendant and asked for a copy of the indictment, 20 days to make motions relating to the indictment and for continuance of bail. No plea was entered.

James Garrison, 24, West Hurley, burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry alleged to have been committed March 21, 1959. He said he would get counsel and Judge Bruhn granted 20 days for motions after the Court had been advised as to retention of counsel and was paroled in his own recognition.

James Beesmer, 20, West Hurley, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, alleged to have been committed March 21, 1959. He too said he would get counsel and 20 days was granted for motions and was paroled in his own recognition.

Clement A. Fulzaro, was arraigned on a charge of unlawful possession of a firearm on June 7, 1959. He said he would get counsel and bail was continued.

Thomas Cragan, charged with driving while intoxicated as a second offender, was represented by Charles Saccoman, and entered a plea of innocent. Bail was continued and counsel granted 20 days to make motions.

In the case of Morris Peterman, charged with driving while intoxicated as a second offender, the case was passed when it was ascertained he was in custody in another court jurisdiction.

Clifford Johnson, charged with carnal abuse, waived reading of the indictment and entered a plea of innocent. Joseph Hill appeared for Johnson and was granted 20 days for motions and bail was continued.

Began in February

George M. Belk, chief of the Federal Narcotics Bureau, said the investigation began in February after routine investigations uncovered conspiracies to import and sell drugs throughout the country.

In addition to Chicago, receiving points for narcotics disclosed by the investigation include Cleveland, Detroit, Miami, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Gary, Ind.

Soper Announces Class Schedules For City Schools

The schedule for elementary schools in the Kingston Consolidated district was announced today by Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools. The schedule is as follows:

All elementary schools, city and rural, will open at 8:45 a. m. and will be dismissed at 3 p. m. The noon hour for elementary school children in the city will be from 11:45 a. m. to 12:45 p. m. The noon hour for the rural children will be from 12 noon to 1 p. m. In the rural schools, individual schools will vary during the noon hour depending upon the cafeteria schedule. Some principals will plan supervised study during the 12 noon to 1 p. m. session.

The morning kindergarten will be from 8:45 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. The afternoon kindergarten session will run from 12:30 p. m. to 3 o'clock. This is a revised schedule for the afternoon kindergarten session and is scheduled to begin at 12:30 to meet the New York State requirement of a 2½ hour kindergarten session.

The elementary schools will enjoy a 5½ hour session minimum which is in excess of the 5 hour minimum session required of elementary schools by the New York State Education Department.

For the first two weeks of school from September 9 through September 18, kindergarten conferences are being scheduled by the kindergarten teachers in those schools unaffected by transportation. Conferences will be scheduled from 10:15 to 11:45 with dismissal of kindergarten children for the morning session at 10:15. The afternoon kindergarten conferences will be scheduled from 2 o'clock to 3 o'clock with dismissal of the afternoon session at 2 p. m.

Schools where transportation is a problem, pupils will be transported home from the morning session at 11:45 and at 3 p. m. for the afternoon session. Parent conferences will be individually scheduled by these kindergarten teachers.

Beginning Wednesday, September 9, elementary children, grades 4 through 6, will be on a full day schedule.

At the George Washington School dismissal will be at 3:10 rather than at 3 because the school also houses 7th grade youngsters who will be dismissed at the 3:10 hour. At the Myron J. Michael Junior High School and Kingston High School the school day starts at 8:30 and closes at 3:10 p. m.

The 1959-60 school session will begin on Wednesday, September 9.

Food consumption studies show that families spend more money for meat and meat substitutes than any other major group of foods.

McKneally Says Study Underway Of Racial Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Legion's new national commander, Martin B. McKneally, says the legion "should be in the forefront in promoting brotherhood and should be the leader in allaying prejudice."

He made the statement in promising action to have racial restrictions lifted by the legion's fun-making organization, the 40 & 8.

The 40 & 8 limits its membership to whites and American Indians. The legion has no racial restrictions.

McKneally, a resident of Newburgh, N. Y., met here Wednesday with civic and religious leaders.

He said a legal examination of the 40 & 8's racial restrictions is now being made. He said he will appoint a committee to meet with the group "to discuss and clarify and to bring to a proper conclusion this conflict."

The issue came up at the recent legion national convention in Minneapolis, at which McKneally was elected commander.

The convention rejected a resolution declaring the 40 & 8 racial restrictions in violation of the legion constitution. The convention, however, adopted a resolution calling on the 40 & 8 to re-examine its eligibility requirements to make them conform with those of the legion.

Wagner Will Add

may be necessary in other city programs to bolster the police force.

Aims at Coordination

In addition to Wagner's City Hall meeting, Gov. Rockefeller held an emergency conference this morning to discuss with state officials a "more effective coordination" of all agencies in reducing youthful crime.

There has been official talk of a curfew for youth on New York streets. In Washington, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) urged consideration of such a measure.

Rockefeller sent an invitation to FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover to attend a scheduled conference next Tuesday between city and state officials. In a reply by telegram, Hoover said a previous commitment would make it impossible for him to be here.

Booked on homicide charges on Wednesday in the playground murders were "Cape Man" Salvatore Agron, 16, and "Umbrella Man," Antonio Luis Hernandez, 17.

Arms Wielding Knife

Agron has admitted wielding a knife during the senseless slayings of Robert Young and Anthony Krzesinski, both 16, but he would not admit responsibility for any death.

Hernandez, whom police say carries an umbrella and uses it as a weapon, had admitted nothing. Six youths have now been formally charged with homicide in the case.

Hernandez and the cocky Agron, who wore a nurse-type cape and called himself Dracula, were seized in The Bronx by two patrolmen early Wednesday as the boys were rummaging through garbage cans.

Agron, leader of the Vampire gang, was quoted as saying:

"We went there (to the playground) to get the Irish and Italians. We heard Puerto Ricans were being pushed around in the neighborhood."

Agron, still arrogant when taken to a station house to be booked, was asked by a newsman why he killed the two boys. "Because I felt like it," he replied.

He gave the same answer to a query on why he wore a cape.

To Arrest 17 Generals

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP)—Secretary of War Elbio Anaya today ordered the arrest of 17 generals in a speedy counterattack against a large-scale rebellion within Argentina's army.

Garrisons throughout the country pledged allegiance to Gen. Carlos Toranzo Montero, who was fired by Gen. Anaya Wednesday.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices wilted early this afternoon as trading dropped off to the slowest pace this week.

Key stocks dropped from fractions to a point or so generally. A few issues held their ground or posted small gains.

Wall Streeters believed it likely that the Federal Reserve Board would raise the discount rate after the market closed today. It seemed a logical consequence to the boost in the prime lending rate put in effect by commercial banks.

Tuesday. The stiffening of interest rates is depressing to stock prices.

Steels, motors, oils, chemicals, coppers, rails, electronics and electrical equipments declined. Aircrafts were steady to a bit higher.

Government bonds were mostly unchanged.

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Child's Curiosity May Need A Psychiatrist's Care

We adopted our 7-year-old girl when she was a baby," writes Mrs. S. "For some time I've noticed her interest in the sex of puppies and kittens. Yesterday, neighbors brought over a young mother and baby. While the mother was changing his diaper, Elly stared so that the other women noticed it and told me I should take her to a psychiatrist.

trist. Does she sound mentally unbalanced to you?"

No. But you can't rely on my opinion, as yesterday, for instance, I found myself staring at a woman teetering along the street on backless pumps with four-inch heels.

When I was Elly's age I stared at lightning bugs, my friends in new dresses, naked babies and elephants in the zoo. So, as a stare myself, my own sanity comes into question here and makes my opinion of Elly's unpredictable.

Under these circumstances maybe Mrs. S. better consult a psychiatrist.

Indeed, I urge her to. For I expect that her adopted child was born out of wedlock, and that Mrs. S. is struggling with fear that Elly is the inheritor of her natural parents' sinfulness. This fear, I think is what makes Elly's interest in naked boy babies so worrisome; and as it is not a rational fear, a psychiatrist might help her get over it before it does serious harm to her and Elly.

In the meantime I offer her some words by Dr. Irene M. Josselyn, a noted psychoanalyst of children who writes: "The child's first awareness of bodily differences comes most easily in observation of a small baby. Parents' naturalness in accepting infant nudity gives a casualness to the experience that helps the child absorb what he sees."

But if, like Mrs. S., we resist his curiosity in the sex of babies, kittens and puppies, we make it impossible for him to absorb what he sees. Sensing our disbelief, he's too distracted by it to absorb what he sees. So his sex curiosity remains unsatisfied.

As a result, he'll satisfy it in guilty secrecy or start pretending he doesn't feel it. Both solutions have made much trouble in this world.

Government purchases under the dairy price support program have dropped off sharply in recent months, largely reflecting a decline in production.

Glass-Makers Pay Honor to Inventor On His Changes

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — It is "Mike Owens Day" in this glass-making center, in honor of the coal miner's son whose inventions revolutionized the glass industry early in this century.

Mayor John Yager proclaimed the observance to honor the man who created the first bottle-making machine. Owens also perfected a device that brought automation to the flat glass industry.

Before Mike's accomplishments one glass blower and four assistants could make only 216 bottles a day. Now bottles can be produced by machinery at the rate of hundreds of thousands a day. And flat glass no longer is made from huge blown bubbles that have to be flattened by hand. A machine draws glass out of the furnaces in sheet form.

The date marks the 56th anniversary of the founding of the Owens Bottle Machine Co., which was formed to market the first big invention, as well as the 100th anniversary of Owens' birth.

Owens-Illinois Glass Co. is hanging glass plaques at its plants in 50 cities in observance of the occasion. It is one of three major glass producers, centered here, that includes the inventor's name. The others are the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. and Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

U. S. Works Way Out Of Butter Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has worked its way out of the butter surplus—at least for the present.

The Agriculture Department on Wednesday took butter off the list of farm surpluses available for sale because present stocks were said to be sufficient only to meet commitments to the school lunch program.

Government purchases under the dairy price support program have dropped off sharply in recent months, largely reflecting a decline in production.

Bazaar Slated This Weekend At St. Peter's

The annual bazaar of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, will be held Saturday and Sunday on the church grounds starting each evening at 7 o'clock.

Among the many attractive booths will be the new kitchenware and doll booths. Aprons and handwork made by women of the parish will be sold. There will be pony rides and games for the children and attractions of interest to the whole family.

Admission is free and refreshments will be available.

The food booth at the bazaar will open 12 noon to 4 p.m. Saturday with homemade salads, baked goods and fresh vegetables featured.

Mold-Makers Recess Talks Till September 9

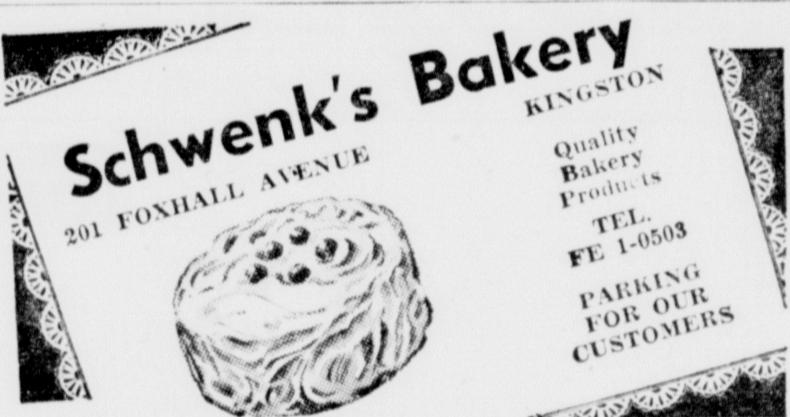

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Contract negotiations for 2,000 mold-makers employed in 80 glass plants across the nation have been recessed until Sept. 9.

Federal Mediation Commissioner William Rose said Wednesday the 26 glass container manufacturing firms and the American Flint Glass Workers Union agreed there would be no work stoppage during the recess.

The contract expired at midnight last Monday but was extended on a day-to-day basis.

Not the Effect of Imagination

Seven years after Dr. Crawford Williamson Long (1815-1878), of Athens, Ga., discovered the use of ether as an anesthetic, he published his findings. Dr. Long delayed making his findings known since he wanted to be sure that "anaesthesia was produced by ether and was not the effect of imagination."

BLOCK — The distance between some people's ears.

A man entered a crowded Greensboro restaurant and found a seat in the corner. A waitress handed him menu and left to take care of other customers who were in a hurry.

After a long interval the waitress suddenly remembered the man in the corner, and hurried over to take his order. He was gone, but propped up against his empty water glass was this sign,

"Wa'al, she's got there!"

scribbled on a piece of note paper: "Out to lunch."

It was at the funeral of a woman who had been thoroughly disliked in the small town—and for cause.

With a barbed tongue and a violent temper, she henpecked her husband, hounded her children, and quarreled with her neighbors. Even the animals in the place wore a hunted look.

The day was sultry, and as the minister's voice droned on, the sky grew darker and darker. Just as the service ended, the storm broke furiously. There was a blinding flash, followed closely by a terrific thunder clap. In the stunned silence a voice was heard from the back row of the crowded room:

"Wa'al, she's got there!"

I had a little dog. I called him August. August was fond of jumping at conclusions, especially at the wrong conclusion. One day he jumped at a mule's conclusion. The next day was the first of September.

Order of Arrow Group Is Host At Area Conclave

Last weekend members of Half Moon Lodge 28, Order of the Arrow of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, played host to the Arrow members of seven other councils for the Area II-D Conclave.

The Order of the Arrow is the honor camping society of the Boy Scouts of America, which is dedicated to cheerful service.

135 Attend

The gathering of 135 delegates was held at Boy Scout Camp Tri-Mount in East Jewett. Representation came from Schenectady, Kingston, Glens Falls, Gloversville, Albany, Troy, Ballston Spa, Saranac Lake, and from their respective surrounding areas. Most of the units arrived in time for Friday night dinner.

After the official opening, colorful Indian Order of the Arrow ceremonies were conducted by the Mahikan and Sisilija Lodges, demonstrating their interpretation to the other lodges.

Saturday morning, Jewish services were held at the camp chapel, led by Daniel Davidson. This was followed by Indian skill games and legends, with Robert Burnett as discussion leader. Next, the delegates were treated with colorful Indian dance exhibitions with Indian costumes explanation, led by delegates from Mohawk and Sisilija Lodges.

Discussions Held

Following lunch, discussion periods were conducted by all lodges. Saturday evening, after the campfire, the ordeal ceremony was conducted by Thayendanegea Lodge, and the brotherhood ceremony by Mohawk Lodge.

The highest honor that this Order can bestow upon any of its members is the Vigil Honor. This year's candidates were Gerald A. Sampson, Robert C. Tremper, Nelson L. Carter, and Richard Fayette. Final acceptance into vigil membership was preceded by impressive ceremonies led by Sisilija Lodge.

Sunday morning Protestant church services were held at the camp chapel with the Rev. Wilet Porter of New Paltz Methodist Church as guest minister. Members of the Catholic faith attended mass in the Roman Catholic Church at Elka Park.

Following the Conclave banquet, the Area II-D business meeting was held. High points of the meeting included the selection of a place for next year's conclave and the election of the new area officers.

The group chose to have next year's Conclave at Camp Rotary, on the outskirts of Troy, and the following were elected as officers:

Officers Named

Area chief is John Dohrenwend; Vice-Chief, William Vigars; secretary, Peter Paladin.

The Conclave was conducted by this year's area officers, who are: Chief, Gerald Sampson, vice chief, Richard Murdock, secretary, William Vigars. They were aided by committee chairmen Edward Seely and David Eightmey and their respective committee members. The food for the Conclave was prepared by Gordon Craig, Robert Tremper, Richard Waltman, Edward Safford, Peter Pocalko, and Thomas Orr.

The adult guidance of Ralph Shapiro, Robert Tremper, and Richard Waltman was a great aid to the success of the Conclave.

FACE OF THE SUN—This photograph of a sunspot, probably the sharpest ever made, was taken from a balloon 80,000 feet above the earth. It was made as part of Project Stratoscope, sponsored by the Navy and the National Science Foundation, who are launching manned balloons from Boulder, Colo., to find out what effect the sun has on weather. The sunspot consists of a dark core of cool gases embedded in a strong magnetic field and surrounded by filaments of hot gases. It produced a magnetic storm in the earth's upper atmosphere on August 16, causing major disturbances in long-range radio communications.

Field Executive Of Scout Council Accepts New Post

The promotion of Nelson L. Carter to the post of district scout executive in the North Bergen County Council, Boy Scouts of America, with headquarters in Hackensack, N. J., was recently announced by Elwood Hitchcock, president of the Rip Van Winkle Council. Carter will assume his new position on September 10. He has served in the position of field scout executive with the Rip Van Winkle Council for over three years. His district assignments included the Mountain, Northern and Saugerties areas of the council territory. He also served as secretary to the council advancement, leadership training and exploring committees.

For three years Carter was assistant camp director of Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, the council camping reservation, related to program and activities. This past summer he served as administrative director of Camp Tri-Mount.

Previous to his professional experience with the Rip Van Winkle Council, Carter was a volunteer scouter in the Schenectady County Council, Boy Scouts of America. In Schenectady, Carter served as assistant scoutmaster and merit badge counselor for nine years and camp waterfront director for seven years. In this council he earned his Eagle Scout Award and was also a brotherhood member of the Order of the Arrow, a scout camping fraternity.

During his student days at Muskingum College in Ohio, Carter served two years as a volunteer scouter with the Zane Trace Council with headquarters in Zanesville, O.

Carter is married to the former Patricia Ann Bomer of Port

Catholic Sisters Of Area Scheduled To Receive Salk

Arrangements have been made for 4,458 Roman Catholic Sisters of the archdiocese of New York, including 189 of the Kingston area, to receive the first of a series of three Salk vaccine injections today at eight hospitals throughout the archdiocese.

Kingston area nuns will receive the shots at Benedictine Hospital from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. The sisters are receiving the shots at the invitation of His Eminence, Cardinal Spellman.

The sisters are scheduled to receive the second shots in five weeks, Thursday, Oct. 8, and the third, eight months later, on June 2, 1960.

Cardinal Spellman will be present 10 a. m. at St. Vincent's Hospital in Manhattan. Included in the list of eight hospitals are St. Francis of Port Jervis and St. Francis of Poughkeepsie.

The 470 Maryknoll Sisters in Ossining will receive their injections in their own infirmary on the convent grounds.

Plans for a similar inoculation of priests of the archdiocese at a later date are now being formulated.

College Boosts Tuition

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Albany Medical College has boosted its tuition by $200, to $1,200.

Dean Harold C. Wiggers said Wednesday the reasons for the increase included the expense of expanding the facilities and faculty.

Ewen The Carters have one daughter, Jane Diane. The Carters most recently resided at 189 Hurley Avenue, Kingston. Both Mr. and Mrs. Carter were members of the Fair Street Reformed Church in Kingston.

President Hitchcock announced that the personnel committee of the council is seeking a replacement for Carter.

State Commission To Close Hearing To Study Reports

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The full State Investigation Commission is to meet to study evidence gathered in a commission inquiry into alleged irregularities at the State Office Building here.

A closed hearing into the matter was adjourned Wednesday, and Commission Chairman John W. Ryan Jr. said the full commission would meet to study the evidence.

No date was set for the meeting.

Ryan, who presided at the hearing, said the commission would decide whether the investigation should continue.

The commission has been investigating the political, union and outside job activities of some employees in the state building.

It has been reported the probbers were looking into charges that state employees were punching the time clock in the building and working full-time elsewhere.

Joseph E. Pilgrim, the building superintendent, was closeted with the commission for three hours Wednesday. Also quizzed were Bartholomew McNamara, a night guard, and Howard Lalone, a former worker in the building.

The nature of the questioning was not disclosed.

Weed Fighter

GORDONSVILLE, Va. (AP)—Richard Davis says he has found the solution to the weed problem in his vegetable garden. He covers the garden with plastic with a tiny hole cut for each vegetable. Putting it between rows as do commercial growers leaves too much space for weeds, Davis says. Furthermore, his method causes his vegetables to be well watered.

To Re-Admit Vessel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted yesterday to re-admit to U. S. registry a vessel used under the Canadian flag during the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway. The bill was sent to the Senate.

The John F. Drews, a former U. S. Coast Guard tug built in Buffalo, N. Y., is owned by the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corp. The law prevents American vessels, once transferred to foreign registry, to regain coastwise privileges in the United States.

Right Consistency

To have a just-right consistency for a vegetable cream soup, use one tablespoon of flour to every cup of milk.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee will hold a hearing next Tuesday on President Eisenhower's nomination of John O. Henderson of Eggertsville, N. Y., as a district court judge.

The President nominated Henderson Aug. 21 to New York's western district bench.

President Gets His GoatRayburn Unable to Round Up
Votes to Override Ike VetoBy JAMES MARLO W.
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn is the shepherd of the House Democrats. But every once in a while President Eisenhower gets his goat.

Seven times this year—144 times since taking office in 1953—Eisenhower has used his veto to kill a measure passed by Congress. Never yet has Rayburn been able to round up enough votes to override him.

He tried twice this year and failed. This must be galling to the 77-year-old Texan who has the greatest Democratic flock since early New Deal days. It's the strays who ruin him.

Strays From South

Most of the strays on vetoes have been Southern Democrats.

Passing a bill needs only a simple majority vote of House and Senate. But passing a bill into law over a presidential veto requires approval of two-thirds of those present at voting time in both houses.

In the Senate there are 100 members—65 Democrats, 35 Republicans—and a full two-thirds would be 67; in the House there are now 436 members—284 Democrats, 153 Republicans—and a full two-thirds would be 291.

Thus, despite their huge numbers, the Democrats would lack a two-thirds vote on any veto—by a handful—even if the full membership of both parties was voting.

And they couldn't get the two-thirds unless the Democrats voted solidly together and a few Republicans joined them. But the full membership of the two parties almost never votes at any one time.

Outcome Is Tight

And Democrats almost never vote solidly. So, when less than the full membership is voting on overriding a veto, the outcome is tight and ticklish, particularly if some Democrats wander over to the Republican side.

And that's what happens. For example, this year Congress passed a $1,216,000,000 flood control bill to pay for reclamation and other water projects all over the United States. This kind of something-for-the-folks-at-home bill is called a "pork barrel."

Eisenhower vetoed it Aug. 28. He thought there was too much pork. In Congress the cries of rage sounded like cries of pain. Rayburn led the march to override the veto. The vote came Wednesday.

Override One Short

The total vote was 412, of which two-thirds would have been 275. But the vote was 274 for overriding (one short of the needed 275) to 138 for upholding Eisenhower's veto.

Eleven Republicans teamed up with 263 Democrats against the President. But six Democrats joined 132 Republicans in backing him up. If one of the six Democrats had voted with his party, Eisenhower would have lost. Five of the six were Southern Democrats.

Earlier this year Eisenhower vetoed a bill which would have stripped Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson of authority to refuse loans by the Rural Electrification Administration.

Rayburn's House Democrats

UMMM GOOD! — Two German girls and thousands of others had their first opportunity to sample U.S. fried chicken at the International Trade Fairs in Cologne and Munich. The exhibits offered chicken, a bun, some fruit, and honey for the equivalent of 25 cents. Thousands took advantage of the offer.

failed by four votes to override that one. Four Democrats strayed.

On this REA bill the Senate did vote to override—64 to 29—with two more votes than were needed to make up the two-thirds (62) of the total 93 votes cast. Sen. Frank J. Lausche was the only Democrat against overriding.

fails to Override

The Senate tried but failed to override Eisenhower's veto last July of the $1,375,000,000 housing bill, Rayburn's protege and fellow Texan, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Senate majority leader, reportedly wasn't keen for trying on this one because he could foresee the result. The vote was nine short of the needed two-thirds. Ten Democrats were on Eisenhower's side.

The other vetoes this year were on wheat and tobacco bills, both important to farmers, and two minor bills. After counting heads, the Democrats in the House and Senate didn't even try to override.

Radical Changes Due as Networks Vie for TV ViewersBy CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There will be some radical changes this fall in the well-established habits of television watching as the networks start fighting for viewers' attention.

During the next seven weeks around 40 new shows will start their careers in prime evening network time—including the first trickle of what promises to be an exciting flood of big, expensive special productions.

During the same period, the sturdy tried-and-true programs will be having so-called "season premieres," which in most cases just means they've stopped summer repeats and are putting on fresh material again.

But this gradual unfolding of the fall season doesn't mean that we can all resume the comfortable viewing customs of last year. For instance, Jack Benny moves to a later hour on CBS Sunday nights. There with George Gobel to help on alternate weeks, he'll fight a ratings battle with popular Loretta Young on NBC and a new ABC entry, The Alaskans, a Western with snowshoes.

Ed Sullivan's old friend Steve Allen has moved over to a late evening Monday spot where the competition will be different, even if formidable—the new June Allyson show, a comedy-drama series starring Jackie Cooper and James Michener's Adventures in Paradise. Sullivan on CBS will be worrying this year about NBC's highly touted, dramatic Sunday Showcase, and the end of ABC's very popular Maverick plus another ABC Western, The Lawman. Perry Como will be missing from the Saturday night line up, slipping into a new Wednesday night spot which Dave King has warmed up for him during the summer.

There is also a raft of new Westerns. The horse-loving audience is going to be hard pressed choosing between, for instance, Cheyenne (ABC) and its opposite, the Texan (CBS) on Monday, or Bronco (ABC) and Laramie (NBC) Tuesday.

Anyway, the new TV year is just about upon us. Change may be traumatic, but it looks like there's a lot of good entertainment in store.

School Enrollment

Expected at 2,600;

Increase Over 200

It is anticipated that the enrollment in the Saugerties Central Schools next week may possibly reach a total of 2,600. Last year the total was 2,367, according to Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools.

The enrollment in the high school, which includes grades 7-12, may reach as many as 1,000. The enrollments to date are as follows:

Kindergarten 300; first grade 221; second grade 264; third grade 221; fourth grade 187; fifth grade 184; sixth grade 172 and ungraded 36.

The total grade enrollment is 1,589.

High school enrollment includes seventh grade 202; eighth grade 172, and grades 9-12 583 for a total high school enrollment of 957.

Instructions for opening day, Wednesday, Sept. 9 were announced by Dr. Morse today.

Pupils attending the Main Street School follow the procedure outlined below.

Grade One—Report to Room 112 on first floor of old building.

Grade Two—Report to Room 102 or Room 104 on first floor of old building.

Grade Three—Report to Room 201 on second floor of old building.

Grade Four—Report to Room 205 on second floor of old building.

Grade Five—Report to Room 208 on second floor of old building.

Grade Six—Report to Room 21 or Room 23 on second floor of new building.

Ungraded classes—Report to Room 1 in basement of new building.

Kindergarten pupils will be notified by mail in regard to school hours and room numbers.

Adult Education

Plans Announced

Plans for the Adult Education program at Saugerties High School for the coming season

ing

books; physical fitness for women; current history; a series of five meetings on government; one on each of the following: federal, state, county, town, village, schools being included under both town and village; Civil Defense (one session—no fee); income tax; upholstering and wood finishing.

If there is a demand for any worthwhile class not included in the list above, anyone interested in such an offering should get in touch with Mr. Lane.

Art, Craft Mart Displays Works Of Miss Elliott

Miss Frances Elliott of Katonah has several of her hand-decorated tole trays and paintings displayed at the Arts and Crafts Mart being conducted at The Red Barn, Woodstock daily through Monday.

The show has been reportedly very well attended thus far by local residents and out-of-town visitors. Receiving special attention are displays of old-time Woodstock crafts, prints, paintings and examples of pottery and weaving created in Woodstock studios.

There are daily demonstrations of weaving each afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. A different beginning time can be arranged if an entire group wishes it that day. Dr. Morse said.

In order for a class to be offered in any subject, a registration of not fewer than 16 is required, and each class must maintain an average of not fewer than 12. The only exceptions to this rule are in such classes as Americanization; Study for the Equivalency Examination; classes in mathematics; science; foreign languages, such as Russian. Classes will normally meet two hours during the evening. A booklet giving all details about the forthcoming adult education program will be circulated.

Anyone who has any inquiries about subject, instructors or other details about the programs are advised to get in touch by phone with the Assistant Director at the school.

Some of the courses that will be offered this year, provided there is sufficient demand for them, will be stenography, high-speed longhand (a form of shorthand); English for foreign born; preparation for the high school equivalency tests; typewriting; auto mechanics, including welding; woodworking and hobby shop; printing; photography; driver training; Russian; sewing; electronics; law; everyone should know; basic drawing and sketching; elementary oil painting; ceramics; rug hooking; interest-style with corn-on-the-cob and all the fixins'.

Town Highway Superintendent William R. Brown, a past commander of the VFW will be the barbecue master again this year.

The proceeds will go towards financing the annual Loyalty Day parade and celebration and for services to hospitalized veterans. Tickets are available at Bosco's Barber Shop, Casino Restaurant, and the Goody Shop, all on Main Street.

St. Mary's School At Saugerties Opening Sept. 14

St. Mary's Parochial School, Saugerties, will open Monday, Sept. 14, with full day sessions, it was announced today.

The school will open with an approximate enrollment of 410, according to Sister Marie Bernard, new principal of the school.

Sister Bernard replaces Sister Rose Marietta, who has been assigned to Sacred Heart School, New York City.

The eight-room school is situated on Cedar Street.

Stenoscript on List Of Adult Classes Set

One of the adult education courses that will be available on October 5 is Stenoscript. The instructor will be Marion T. Stay.

Stenoscript is an alphabetical shorthand system which enables a person to master shorthand in the shortest time, at the least expense, and at speeds necessary for government stenographers, secretaries, college students, and those who must attend business conferences and meetings without the luxury of a secretary.

In Stenoscript, the average person can attain a speed of 80 words per minute with comparatively little effort while a speed of 100 words per minute is attained by earnest study over a 30-day period. Furthermore, the notes can be transcribed a month or even a year later, because only the alphabet and familiar punctuation symbols are used.

Briefly, the idea of Stenoscript is putting into shorthand only that part of a word which you hear by using characters that represent those sounds.

The learning of the theory of Stenoscript is covered in the first seven lessons, and the remaining time is spent putting the theory into practice, and obtaining speed.

Town Notes

Police Chief Arthur W. Richert returned to his post this week following a vacation on an upstate lake near Gloversville. He said he had only one day of bad weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Weber of Richmond Hill, L. I., are visiting with Mr. Weber's sister, Mrs. Anna Cawein at Malden-on-Hudson.

Ronald B. Johnstone, local photographer is leaving Saturday on a European trip. He was delegated at the Tuesday night Rotary Club meeting to contact Rotaract Clubs in his tour of France, Italy, Scotland, England. He will seek information about the direct club to club exchange of students. Johnstone is past president of the local Rotary Club.

Truck Operator Still Critical

Loretta Slattery, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. Slattery Jr., of 6 Center Road, Mt. Marion Park is in Benedictine Hospital today suffering from two broken wrists received in a fall Wednesday afternoon at the Lion's Playground, Washington Avenue.

Mr. Slattery is a patrolman with Saugerties Police Department.

Mrs. Slattery said today that her daughter was playing on the monkey bar at the playground and fell, breaking both wrists. She was taken to Benedictine Hospital.

The mishap occurred about 4:30 p.m.

The Slattery girl was to have attended St. Mary's School on opening day, Monday, Sept. 14.

Mrs. Mary Dixon, park supervisor, was on duty at the time of the mishap.

Collecting School Taxes at Main Street

School taxes are being collected at the Main Street School building in the Village of Saugerties, not at the new high school, as last year.

Residents wishing to pay by mail, may address envelopes to Mrs. LeRoy Jacobson, tax collector, P. O. Box 373, Main

Plane Crash Takes Lives of Eight in Alaska Tuesday

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Lost in a storm and running low on fuel. That was the last terse report from the pilot of a chartered plane that crashed in central Alaska Tuesday night carrying eight persons, including six girls, to their deaths.

The girls, all in their early 20s or late teens, had been selling magazine subscriptions and were homeward bound when the twin-engine C45 plunged to the ground near McGrath, 300 miles southwest of here.

Killed were C.W. (Bud) Priest, Anchorage, the pilot; C.A. Bailey, 35, Seattle, who had charge of the tour; Rosalie Nelson, Conrad, Mo.; Diane Nelson, Fargo, N.D.; Shirley Salazar, Hawaii; Cathy Clark, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Albert McKellop, Tulsa, Okla.; and Virginia Lee Ostrander, 18, Seattle.

Bailey, formerly of Lynchburg, Va., worked on contract for the Local Reader Service of Chicago. His wife and three children now live in Seattle, where a regional office was established.

Undergoes Surgery

ROME (AP)—Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, 86-year-old archpriest of St. Peter's Basilica, underwent intestinal surgery Wednesday in a Rome clinic. He was reported today to be showing improvement.

Discrimination Denied

London (AP)—Moscow radio said today that any talk of discrimination against Jews in the Soviet Union is nothing but falsehood. The statement—in the radio's English-language service—was prompted by a letter from an unnamed New York listener.

Gonzalez, Nessel Start on Trip To Costa Rica

Vere Nessel and Hernan Gonzalez, both of Woodstock, left Tuesday on a motor trip to Costa Rica.

Mr. Gonzalez, who is spending a year in the Woodstock area with his wife, Julietta, and four children, is a native of that country and is returning briefly to take care of family affairs there. He and Mr. Nessel are expected to return around the first of November.

En route to Costa Rica, the men will be guests at the various Costa Rican Embassies along the way. Mr. Gonzalez, an attorney, also served as a representative to the United Nations. An uncle of his is the Costa Rican ambassador to Guatemala.

Couple Celebrate Anniversary Today

Mr. and Mrs. J. LeRoy Boice of Sunset Park are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary today.

Both are natives of this area. Mrs. Boice is the former Gladys Rockwell of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Boice, who were married in Port Ewen, have three children — Robert, 23, Thomas, 21, and Judith Ann, 17.

Mr. Boice is employed by Boice Brothers Dairy.

Mrs. Daniel Wright Retires Teaching Position in L. I.

Word has been received by The Freeman that Mrs. Daniel J. Wright, the former Eva Clinton of Kingston, resigned her position as Director of Vocal Music at H. F. Carey High School, Franklin Square, L. I. last June.

Mrs. Wright has completed 21 years of teaching and will now devote her time to her family and private students.

Mrs. Wright and her husband, who reside at Woodland Road, Oyster Bay, L. I., are vacationing aboard their cabin cruiser, the "Dee Jay" on Long Island Sound and expect to return to their home after Labor Day.

Area residents will remember Mrs. Wright since she served as assistant superintendent of music here from 1933-1939 and was the founder-director of Kingston High School's first marching band. Her husband teaches physical education at Mineola High School, Mineola, L. I. and is assistant director of the Pierce Country Day Camp in Roslyn, L. I. He was recently given a testimonial dinner by Thomas T. Pierce, owner-director of the Pierce Camp. The event was held in the Terrace Room of the Hotel Statler, New York City.

Mr. Wright was cited for outstanding leadership from 1934-1959 at the summer camp. He was presented with a searchlight for his boat. The dinner was attended by 150 staff members of the camp.

The Wrights have two sons, Robby, 12, and Daniel, 6.

Band Concert Rained Out Second Time; Will Play Tonight

The Kingston Concert Band was unable to give its rescheduled program last night because of rain. This makes the second time the concert has been rained-out.

Marlin E. Morrette, conductor, told The Freeman today that the concert will be given tonight at 8 on Academy Green. He is hoping for a good attendance.

If the concert is again postponed because of rain, it will be given on Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Joyce Anne Domanico Weds LeRoy Sheffer In Double Ring Ceremony at St. Mary's

Exchanging nuptial vows on Saturday, Aug. 29 at 1:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Church, this city, were Miss Joyce Anne Domanico, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Domanico of 44 Lindsley Avenue, and LeRoy Robert Sheffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sheffer of 24 Ponckhockie Street.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Francis X. Toner.

Theodore Riccobono was organist and Martin Kelly sang the "Ave Maria" and "Mother Beloved."

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion. The pews were marked with white ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a waltz length gown of pure silk organza with hand-embroidered lace over taffeta. The gown also featured a Sabrina neckline with short sleeves and very bouffant skirt. As a headpiece, she wore a coronet of beads which held a circular veil. She carried blue and white carnations on a Joseph Duffy, the bridegroom's cousin, was best man.

A reception was given at Judes Restaurant for members of the immediate families.

The bride and her husband are graduates of Kingston High School. Mrs. Sheffer is also a graduate of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing. Her husband is employed by the Miron Lumber Company.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a green chiffon print dress with beige accessories and an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheffer will reside at 230 Smith Avenue when they return.

UNANSWERED WEDDING INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is to be married very shortly. The invitations were sent out several weeks ago and all but a very few have replied. I would like to know whether or not they are coming as we are having a sit-down dinner and are being charged so much per person. Would it be proper to write each one of them a short note asking them to please let me know if they are coming?

Answer: You might telephone to those who have not answered and say that as you are afraid some of your invitations may have gone astray, you wish to make sure that they have received theirs, and as an afterthought ask if they are coming?

A Lapse of Memory

Dear Mrs. Post: What can one do when faced with the problem of having to introduce two people and the name of one of them has completely slipped your mind? I think this is a most embarrassing situation. Is there a tactful way to handle this situation?

Answer: I agree that not being able to think of the name of one of two people you have to introduce is indeed one of the most embarrassing situations imaginable. You can try saying to the "nameless" one, "Oh, don't you know Mrs. Smith?" hoping that she will be "understanding and tactful enough to announce her own name. If this fails, it may be necessary to say that you must be losing your memory because for the moment you can't, to save your life, remember her name.

Refusing a Good Night Kiss

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how I can tactfully refuse to kiss a boy good night when he takes me home after a date? This is rather an awkward situation that has come up several times lately and I would appreciate your telling me what I can do without hurting his feelings.

Answer: You might tell him that you are saving your kisses for the one you fall in love with.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-13, entitled, "Let's Give A Shower," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Attention: Brides-to-Be!

Finally right within earshot, there has opened an exclusive bridal shop in the heart of the uptown Wall Street shopping area—and we mean exclusive, judging by the brides from Kingston's finest families patronizing the store. It is named Doreen's, and is located between the luggage shop and Scott's at 295 Wall Street.

If you go to other bridal shops, you may, if you're lucky, be shown 4 or 5 styles. Doreen believes that a bride should have at least 20 styles to select from in bridal gowns, and 40 styles to choose from in bridesmaid's at 295 Wall Street.

So . . . that's exactly what you'll see when you phone Doreen for an evening appointment, or drop in any day from 10 to 5.

And remember that Doreen's custom department can outfit a complete wedding in less than three weeks, in case groom-to-be gets an earlier furlough.

Bridesmaids dresses start at $25.00 and range from $29.95 to $35.00 up. Informal and formal wedding gowns are $35.00 to $99.50, to $150.00 up—Advt.

Scout Pack 19 Has Graduation: Pine Wood Derby

A graduation, awarding of a Webelos badge, and the inauguration of a Pine Wood derby were highlights of the monthly pack meeting of Cub Pack 19, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1386, Wednesday evening at Forsyth Park.

William Buddenhagen of Den 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Buddenhagen of Smith Avenue, was awarded the coveted Webelos badge, graduated into Boy Scout Troop 19. He was received by Assistant Scoutmaster Lester Sharky.

The Pine Wood derby, under the direction of Assistant Cubmaster Frank Rittie, climaxed a two-month's program of building racing cars. This event was won by Brian O'Neil of Den 1, with Michael Ostrander of Den 5 in second place, and Gary Tomczyk of Den 3 taking third place.

Two new Cub Scouts and their families were received into Pack 19. Joseph Mannello and Gary Tomczyk became members of Den 3 through a Bobcat ceremony.

An announcement was made that the September meetings of Pack 19 would be held the last Monday and Wednesday of the month at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on Delaware Avenue, beginning at 7 p.m. Dens 1 and 3 will meet on the last Wednesday and Dens 4 and 5 on the last Monday of the month.

Awards for the month were:

Den 1, Mrs. Betty Eightney, den mother; Brian O'Neil, two-year service star and two-year perfect attendance; silver arrows to Ralph Bonomo and Edward Tomczyk; gold arrow to Fred Seeger; Lion Badge to Richard Cole;

Den 3, Mrs. Barbara Tomczyk, den mother; two-year service star to John Barnes; Webelos and graduation to William Buddenhagen; Bobcat pins to Cary Tomczyk and Joseph Mannello;

Den 4, Mrs. Nancy Wells, den mother; silver arrows to Wayne Elliott and Stanley Albright; one-year service star and one-year perfect attendance pin to Stephen Foster;

Adult awards: Five-year service star and four-year perfect attendance pin to Den Chief James Connally; three-year service star to Den Chief Richard Showers; one-year service star and one-year perfect attendance pin to Den Mother Mrs. Tomczyk.

Committee Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist-dominated organizations are spending thousands of dollars each month in an attempt to influence Congress, the House Committee on Un-American Activities says.

In a report Wednesday, the committee recommended that lobbyists be required to say whether they are Communists and whether their organizations are Communist-dominated.

British Champ Beats Armstrong

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Unranked Dick Tiger, the British Empire champion, has handed fifth-ranked middleweight Gene (Ace) Armstrong his first pro loss. But the optimistic Armstrong feels defeat has some blessings.

"I'll be more relaxed, and my future opponents might be less aggressive," he said. "I won't have a winning record to keep going and they won't have one to knock off."

Tiger's decision over Armstrong in their 10-round nationally televised fight Wednesday night at Convention Hall was Gene's first knockout in 18 fights.

Tiger, a Nigerian, who relied almost exclusively on a left hook, knocked Armstrong down in the third round. It was the first knockout of Gene's career.

From then on Tiger, 30, had the upper hand and he staggered Armstrong several times. Armstrong, 27, a fast-moving fighter with a classic style, tried to stay away from Tiger, but couldn't.

35 Club Ace Fans Nine In Babe Ruth League

Paul Natale unfurled a 1-hitter and struck out 9 to pitch the 35 Club to an 11-0 victory over Kiwanis in the Babe Ruth League.

The lone hit off Natale was a single by the opposing pitcher, Murphy, who gave up only five hits, but walked eight and was victimized by some shoddy support.

Brown was the batting star for the 35 Club with a triple and two doubles in four trips to the plate. Natale helped his own cause with a double. Smith accounted for the other 35 Club safety.

While Natale did not issue a single base on balls and turned back the Kiwanians with ease, the 35 Club squad scored in four of their five turns at bat and climaxed their efforts with a six-run rally in the bottom of the fifth. The game was halted by darkness.

With a roar 18,047 fans got to their feet and cheered Red Schoendienst who went into a Milwaukee Braves game for the first time since he was stricken with tuberculosis last winter. He batted for Juan Pizarro and grounded out, but the crowd didn't mind as the Braves were taking a bad beating—finally losing 11-5. Red's appearance gave them something to cheer about.

"I had more butterflies than I ever had," the popular second baseman said with a grin afterwards. "It was truly a big moment."

"It makes a guy happy to have everyone pulling for you when you're down. And it's a double thrill to come back and receive tremendous ovation. It makes you feel you're still wanted."

Driven by Don Huff, Cosmo Hanover went off last in a field of seven. He quickly regained his stride and took command at the quarter in the $1,800 Long Lake Pace.

He never was headed although boldly challenged in the stretch by Major's Ace, who placed second by a neck.

Cosmo, owned by the Conesus Stable of Conesus, paid $10.10. Favored Vinn Hanover was third. The time for the mile was 2:17.45 over sloppy, rain-washed course.

At Roosevelt Raceway, Major's Task took a three-quarter length victory over Highland Boy in the $3,600 Meadowbrook Class Pace.

The winner, leading all the way, finished the mile in 2:05 and paid $5.80. Kwik was third.

Other feature results:

Vernon Downs — Mr. Buttonwood ($14.80) won $1,700 Class A pace in 2:02.45.

Monticello Raceway — Honey Fingo ($6.40) won $1,800 Liberty Pace in 2:08.15.

Batavia Downs — Avalon Junior ($4) won $2,000 Baker Memorial Pace in 2:04.35.

Buffalo Raceway Take For 30 Days, $498,411

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state collected $498,411 in pari-mutuel betting revenue from this summer's 30-day harness race meeting at Buffalo Raceway.

The total handle at the track was $8,148,522, attendance 159,474, the State Tax Department reported Wednesday.

A comparison with last year's records could not be made because the track held a continuous, 70-day meeting last year. This year, the season was split into two meetings. A 42-day meet will be held in the fall.

Dick Donovan Back in Form

Annex Twinbill,
Newcombe Winner
Over Bob Friend

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Pittsburgh's Pirates finally have stumbled in that National League pennant race, stubbing their toes on a club they've walked all over this season.

The Cincinnati Reds, who had won only 5 of 16 from Pittsburgh, jolted the fourth-place Pirates twice with a 6-3 and 2-1 sweep in a two-night double-header Wednesday night.

A three-run homer by Willie Jones won the opener, ending the Pirates' latest winning string at five. Then Don Newcombe out-dueled Bob Friend in the second

That spilled Pittsburgh five games behind San Francisco's first-place Giants, who defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-3 on Jackie Brandt's ninth-inning homer. Second-place Los Angeles stayed within 1 1/2 games of the lead by beating St. Louis 9-6 after trailing by four runs. Philadelphia again beat Milwaukee, 11-5.

Law Loses Opener

Vern Law (18-8) was the first-game loser for the Pirates, giving up singles by Gus Bell and Frank Robinson before Jones rapped his tie-breaking homer in the eighth against unbeaten reliever Elroy Face. Vada Pinson and Robinson also homered for the Reds.

Brandt's 12th homer, off losing reliever Don Elston (6-7), handed Sam Jones his 18th victory for the Giants, tying teammate Lew Burdette for the major league lead.

Felipe Alou, counting the first run with a sacrifice fly, and rookie Willie McCovey also homered for the Giants.

The Dodgers blew a 1-0 lead when the Cardinals scored five unearned runs in the third inning, three on Curt Flood's homer. They finally put it away against reliever Bob Duliba (0-1) with two runs in the sixth on Gil Hodges' single and a double by Charlie Neal. Chuck Churn (0-0) was the winner in relief as the Dodgers set a major league pitching record with 899 strikeouts for the season. The old mark was 896, set by Detroit in 1946.

Carl Sawatzki drove in four runs for the Phils, chasing Burdette (18-14) with a three-run homer for a 6-2 lead in the sixth inning. Robin Roberts (12-15), won it.

White Sox Fans Love Big Klu

By JERRY EDWIN

CHICAGO (AP)—White Sox fans love their newest and hottest hit— all 245 pounds of him.

They love him when he blasts a base hit, which is often, and when he strikes out, which usually is punctuated with a fearsome swing.

In their eyes, National League castoff Ted Kluszewski can do little wrong.

Possibly, they feel this mountain of muscle from Argo, Ill., can, if necessary, hoist the entire Chicago White Sox ball club upon his broad shoulders and carry the team across the finish line to the American League pennant.

Big Klu lumbered into Comiskey Park Aug. 25. The Pittsburgh Pirates had dealt him from the National League where he was plodding in unappreciated mediocrity through his 13th major league season.

After Wednesday night's action, big Klu was hitting .423, high on the team.

"The first base job is his," says Manager Al Lopez. "He reported here in a great frame of mind, and he looks really good at the plate."

"Klu, Klu," Sox fans shout encouragingly as the 6-foot-2 former Indiana University football star stalks to the plate.

He has terrified opposing infielders with a barrage of whistling line drive singles.

Since the spring of 1956, when he was playing with Cincinnati, Klu has been bothered off and on by a slipped disc.

"But it doesn't bother me now," he declares. "Exercise is the best thing for it. And now that I'm playing regularly, I feel fine."

Wins Over Tigers To Follow Up Cleveland Shutout

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Donovan definitely is back, Ted Kluszewski has delivered his first RBI and Chicago's White Sox have a 5 1/2-game lead in the run for their first American League pennant in 40 years.

They regained that bulge by sweeping Detroit 7-2 and 11-4 in a two-night double-header Wednesday night. Donovan, the right-hander who'd had shoulder trouble, followed up last Saturday's clutch shutout against Cleveland with a four-hitter in the opener. And Klu then singled to keep things rolling in an 11-run fifth inning that nailed the second game.

Cleveland's second-place Indians ended their skid at four games by beating Kansas City 6-3, although southpaw Herb Score fled again.

New York skipped past Detroit into third place with a 4-3 victory over Washington, and Baltimore defeated Boston 4-0 behind the seven-hit pitching of Bill O'Dell.

The White Sox gave Donovan a quick 7-0 lead in the opener with Sherman Lollar smacking Frank Lary (17-9) for a pair of two-run doubles. Donovan, who tired and gave way to reliever Gerry Staley in the ninth, had a one-hit shutout until the seventh inning, when Charlie Maxwell hit his 28th home run. Maxwell had three of the Tigers' four hits and drove in both runs, singling home the other in the eighth.

Sudden Outburst

Paul Foytack (13-2) had the Sox blanked on three hits and led 3-0 before they opened up for their 11 in the fifth—scoring 10 of 'em with two out.

Al Smith got it started with his 13th homer, and with two out, Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox singled. Jim Landis walked, loading the bases, and Klu then came through, touching off a string of six consecutive singles before Fox finished it off with a three-run triple.

Rookie Joe Stanka was the winner.

With the Tigers' streak ended at five, the Yankees took third by a half game, beating the Senators on Yogi Berra's 18th homer—a two-run shot that broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth. Jim Coates (14-1) won it in relief. Camilo Pascual (12-16) lost it.

The Orioles got two runs in the second against Tom Brewer (8-10). Doubles by Bob Boyd and Barry Shetrone, a walk, bunt and an error did it.

The Indians came from behind and beat Ned Garver (9-11) with five runs in the third as Tito Francona lined a two-run single and Woody Held counted two more with a double. Gary Bell (15-11) won it with nine innings of five-hit relief after Score was chased with two runs in, the bases loaded and none out in the first.

This broke the major league record of 896 set by Detroit in 1946. Churn (1-0), who picked up his first major league victory, extended the staff strikeout total to 899 before the game ended.

It ran two full sentences.

"This is one of the fightingest clubs I've ever had," said the manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers. "We're not wearing any pitch-outs out—we haven't got any great power—but we're always fighting back."

While the Dodgers were scrambling to overcome an early 3-1 St. Louis lead, their pitchers were working on an accomplishment of their own. In the seventh inning, when reliever Chuck Churn fanned Alex Grammas, he ran the Dodger staff's strikeout total to 897.

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — The second of the Big Three's new economy cars went into production today as Ford started building Falcons at Lorain, Ohio.

Chevrolet has been assembling Corvairs at nearby Willow Run since mid-July. Chrysler's Valiant will roll off Detroit assembly lines within another month.

The three cars represent a sharp reversal in thinking by Detroit automakers who have been on a longer, lower, more expensive trend throughout the postwar period.

The Corvair will be the first of the new ones into the marketplace, making its public bow about Oct. 2. The Falcon will go on sale Oct. 8. The Valiant probably will be along about Nov. 14.

Vital statistics have been released only on the Falcon. These came Wednesday in a 21-city closed circuit teletcast for newsmen.

The Falcon is 15 feet, 1 inch long, against 17-4 for a 1959 Ford; 4 feet 6 1/2 inches high against 4 feet 8 inches and 5 feet 10 inches wide against 6 feet 4 inches. It weighs 2,366 pounds, compared with 3,570 pounds for the lightest 1959 Ford model.

The Corvair will offer America's first rear-engined models, using a flat six-cylinder aluminum power plant. Registration weight on test cars in Michigan has been 2,400 pounds.

The six-cylinder Falcon engine of cast iron, is rated at 90 horsepower. The Corvair probably will be rated slightly more, as will the Valiant. The Valiant, like the Falcon, is using a cast iron six-cylinder engine mounted in front.

No prices have been announced.

One report this week said the cheapest stripped Corvair will list as just over $1,800. The Falcon and Valiant will be in the same range.

But it will cost the best part of $2,000 to get delivery on any one of them by the time taxes, delivery charges and a minimum number of accessories are included.

Ford claims 30 miles per gallon performance for the Falcon with standard transmission and at least 30 per cent better gas mileage than any current American car with any transmission.

Carillo Critical

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—

Actor Leo Carillo, 68, was in critical condition today after extensive abdominal surgery at a hospital

Wednesday. He became ill last week while on a personal appearance tour in the East.

Wednesday's session was believed to have been confined to non-economic issues.

The million-dollar donation to the striking steelworkers was announced in Washington by Walter P. Reuther, president of the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO.

Resume Parleys On Steel Strike; Union Gets Fund

NEW YORK (AP)—The striking steel union—bolstered by a grant of a million dollars from the AFL-CIO—continues contract negotiations with the industry today.

The strike of a half-million members of the United Steelworkers of America is 51 days old.

No progress toward settlement was reported after Wednesday's negotiating session, which followed a five-day recess.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service who is sitting on the talks, told newsmen:

"Views were exchanged by the negotiating teams, based upon their study during (the) adjournment."

Wednesday's session was believed to have been confined to non-economic issues.

The million-dollar donation to the striking steelworkers was announced in Washington by Walter P. Reuther, president of the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO.

Put in Quarantine

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—Patrolman Eugene J. McCarthy, 29, has been placed in quarantine for two weeks because he tried to revive a dying police victim with mouth-to-mouth respiration.

New Residents Here

Add to Population

Windemere Heights has increased its population this week with four new families in this development. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cyr and five children have taken up residence at 47 Apple-tree Drive, having moved here from Mt. Marion.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carrubba and family, former residents of Saugerties, have moved into their new home at 43 Apple-tree Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Newton and family are now "at home" at 2 Kalina Drive. They are former residents of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Genaro Jerry, Tony and Sandra are now residing at 2 Evergreen Court, the former home of the Robinson family who moved to the West Coast. All four men are employed by the International Business Machines Corporation, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sweet, former residents of Port Ewen, moved into their new home at 8 Garden Court, Garden Circle, during the month of August. On August 22 their first child, Jeffrey Edwin, was born at Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Sweet's mother, Mrs. Edwin Marrs of Syracuse, has been visiting with them and returned to her home on Wednesday.

Stephen Driscoll Feted on Birthday

Stephen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Driscoll of Stevens Court, Kings Village, was five years old on September 1, and a party was given him that day.

Present at the festivities were Brian Flick, Mark Ishkanian, Gary and Joseph DeAngelis, Lee Lafferty, Michelle Walton, Lee Maday, Daniel Lucente, and Stephen's sister and two brothers, Deborah, Jack and Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. Barone Given Farewell Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barone of Louis Avenue, Simmons Park, were guests of their neighbors and friends Saturday evening during farewell dinner at Gene Whalen's Restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Barone left on Monday for Omaha, Neb., where Mr. Barone has been transferred by International Business Machines Corporation.

Attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. John Croker, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DiDomenico.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Reissler of 4 Evergreen Court, Windemere Heights, had as their weekend guests her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winter of Woodhaven, L. I. Their daughter, Agnes, who has been visiting here for the past month, returned to her home with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John Croker of Louis Avenue entertained her

House Will Act On Scaled-Down Works Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Failing by one vote to override a veto of a bigger bill, the House was reluctantly ready today to bow to President Eisenhower's wishes and pass a scaled-down public works measure.

Scheduled for passage Friday or

Monday was a bill appropriating $1,163,967,208 to finance several hundred river and harbor and flood control projects in almost every state. Left out were 67 projects in 32 states involving an initial outlay of $51,510,600 and an estimated over-all cost of $804,526,600.

It was inclusion of these projects in an earlier bill that caused Eisenhower to veto it because they were not provided for in his budget program.

The House Appropriations Committee meets today to whip the compromise bill into shape. Wednesday the House fell one vote short of the two-thirds necessary to override the veto of the $1,216,000,000 measure. The vote was 274-138.

Sheer Luck Says Man On 100th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP)—How do you live to be 100?

"Sheer luck, boy, just plain sheer luck," says chipper Leo M. Kahn, who celebrated his 100th birthday today.

Kahn was born near Pittsburgh and worked his way up to become partner in a woolen firm. He made enough money to retire at 52. His wife died about 50 years ago.

"I played golf up to the age of 80 and did a lot of swimming," says Kahn. "Just walk now, and read the headlines."

He has cut himself down to two drinks of scotch and two cigars a day.

DeGraff-Cashdollar Race Looms for Superintendent for removing rock cuts and loading them.

Sees Big Savings

Benjamin DeGraff, O'Hay Mountain resident has announced his intention to seek the Republican nomination for town superintendent of highways at the forthcoming Republican caucus on Sept. 17.

At the same time, DeGraff, a former Republican superintendent took sharp issue with the present superintendent, Albert Cashdollar, on the condition of machinery now being used and the overall highway picture in the township. DeGraff served as highway superintendent in 1946-47 and again 1952-53, a total of four years.

Commenting on the recent Town Board controversy over the purchase of new machinery requested by Cashdollar, DeGraff said that a traxcavator might not be the best solution of the machinery problem.

The present machine, purchased in 1951 is still being used, although the present superintendent has stated it is broken down, DeGraff charged. He added that the town has a new shovel which can be used

Foundation Outlines Needs; Also Seek Award Candidates

The Woodstock Foundation interest in nominating candidates for awards. Anyone residing in Woodstock township or the Maverick is eligible for a grant in the fields of art, crafts, music or creative writing. All nominations and applications must be submitted prior to Sept. 28, 1959, for consideration.

"This is the year the Woodstock Foundation is moving forward on three important fronts, all of which we believe will be of interest to everyone in our community.

"First, the Woodstock Foundation is producing a 1959 edition of 'Bettina's Promise' or 'The Broken Divining Rod,' a comedy about Stockwood in the years 1900 and 1904, written by Fritzie Striebel and Virginia Hubbell. This was the most successful of all prior Foundation plays. With additional material, new stars and a new variety of talent of local origin, an even greater success is assured. "It is from the revenues of 'Bettina's Promise' to be presented at the Woodstock Playhouse, Sept. 11-12 at 8:40 p.m. that funds will be available for money grants by the Foundation. When you help yourself to an evening's entertainment, you also help the Foundation advance its program of assisting creative talents in all fields.

More Funds Needed

"Secondly, additional funds must be raised by contribution to reach our quota. Any contribution you can now make will be greatly appreciated.

"Thirdly, we also solicit your vote entered the New York city plant as a shop boy, later going to Chicago and Kansas City, then returning to New York to become general supervisor of manufacturing, a position he held for many years.

Real Estate Experience

In 1951, Tackella joined the sales force of the Frederick Dircks Real Estate Agency, and under the direction of Dircks, gained a thorough knowledge of real estate in Woodstock and surrounding territory. He also worked with Mal Cunningham of Kingston in new housing development projects. He is one of the few men in New York state who held a license to work with two real estate firms at the same time.

DeGraff also said that he felt that a loader mounted on rubber tires which could be purchased at a very much lower cost than the traxcavator would prove a more practical piece of equipment. This position flatly contradicts the stand taken by Cashdollar, who told members of the Town Board that a loader on rubber tires could not do the job.

This rubber tire mounted loader, DeGraff said, could be moved along state and county highways and used in the yard.

DeGraff has been a life long resident of Woodstock and has been engaged in construction work for more than 30 years. He is a strong believer in early road work in April and May of each year to make travel on the town highways safe and smooth. He says a proper use of labor and materials will give better roads without any increase in the taxpayer's burden.

DeGraff promised to make a statement next week as to the proper method of making a town highway budget.

Polari Presents Contemporary Chamber Music

The second annual contemporary Chamber Music Concert at the Polari Gallery in Woodstock is scheduled Saturday, Sept. 5, at 8:40 p.m.

The concert will feature works by William Ames, Henry Cowell, Billy Jim Layton, Yehudi Wyner and Arnold Schoenberg. Composers Ames, Cowell, Layton and Wyner will be present to discuss their works at the concert.

This is the second year that the Polari Gallery has presented this distinguished concert of contemporary music and hopes to make it part of a regular series in the future. Last year's recital was a highly successful affair, with an overflow crowd attending.

The Polari Gallery on Chestnut Hill Road is now featuring a very fine exhibition of paintings, prints, drawings and pottery. This show, which represents the work of 19 artists, will be open to the public through Sept. 12. This will be the last exhibition of the season for the Polari Gallery and also the last time that local residents may view an exhibition in this fine old converted barn, as the gallery will be relocated to a new spot next year.

The Polari Gallery is located on Chestnut Hill Road, first right turn past the golf course, off Route 212, in Woodstock.

Draws Fine Turnouts

Frank J. Tackella of Zena, recently appointed Deputy Director of Civil Defense for Woodstock, said today he would seek the Republican nomination for tax assessor at the Republican caucus on Sept. 17 at the Woodstock town hall. He will seek the designation for the two-year term.

Tackella is a member of the Woodstock Republican Club, a past District Deputy Grand Marshal of Ulster District, IOOF, a past Noble Grand of Drill Master of Agape Rebekah Lodge No. 623 and chaplain and trustee of Woodstock Fire Company No. 4.

Prior to coming to Woodstock, Tackella was employed by the Wendell Corp., manufacturing jewelers with plants in New York, Chicago and Kansas City.

Miss Florence Webster is largely responsible for this attractive exhibition, which has been possible through her untiring efforts, and this is evident by the many exhibits of her talents on display of her handiwork and painting produced from childhood to the present day. Several sales have been reported and the exhibition is free with ample parking for all.

Rummage Sale

The Wittenberg Methodist
